I believe that everything happens for a reason. People change so that you can learn to let go, things go wrong so that you appreciate them when they're right, you believe lies so you eventually learn to trust no one but yourself, and sometimes good things fall apart so better things can fall together.

HER Story | the series.

Real and authentic words from female entrepreneurs -- a celebration of her journey and inspiration for you.

The journey of Ivy & Zale began when we became inspired with the idea of making natural cold processed soap. After our first baby was born I realized, even the “natural” products we were using on her were full of synthetic ingredients. I come from a family with severe eczema and troubled skin. As a newborn, our first baby had patches of eczema, her skin was so delicate. Every product I used either made her eczema worse or took it away for a short period of time and when it came back it was worse then before.

I have always had a love relationship with essential oils and through my studies in Aromatherapy & Lymphatic Drainage Massage, I have learnt that essential oils can be used as a natural solution for many skin conditions. This led us to create a product that was clean and sustainable, meaning no synthetic additives such as fragrances, micas, and harsh preservatives. Our goal was to create a product using mother nature’s gifts and miracles. And so, after over a year of research, creating our own recipes and taking soap making classes, Ivy & Zale was created. We are a small family run Canadian business. With myself and my husband being the founders. Ivy & Zale is named after our two daughters ages 3 and 5 years old.

We have formulated our recipes by using a combination of eight oils & butters, a variety of essential oil blends and natural colorants such as clays & herbal powders. Our products are gentle enough for all skin types especially the most troubled skin. We are free from animal cruelty, paraben, phthalate, palm oil, mica and fragrances.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

Done is better than perfect. We launched Ivy & Zale a year ago and I have learnt a lot through our journey. The one thing that stuck with me was the saying “done is better than perfect.” I am a perfectionist in some ways and I found that it was holding me back. If we all waited until everything was perfect we wouldn’t grow, move forward or possibly even have started at all. It is better to do something even when it isn’t perfect. You learn though the process and eventually will be able to figure out “perfect” along the way. Sometimes you will find that when you accomplish something that you thought was far from perfect it is in fact exactly what your audience loves and needed. Imagine if you never showed up in any way because you thought it wasn’t perfect to show the world? You could be waiting a life time to find perfect if you don’t just breathe, show up, and do your best to find out.

Dream big and keep moving forward even when you are feeling overwhelmed. Just keep breathing through it. Continue to dream big, work hard and show up. Don’t let go of your dreams.

The idea behind Twelve Five Candle Co. started simply with the desire to create. I have been a freelance makeup artist for over 11 years and I'm always looking for creative outlets. This started pretty organically. I love candles so much and being able to hand craft them seemed like an exciting challenge. I loved that I would have the ability to control what was being put in them. This importance was only amplified with children.

I started testing and fell in love!
From creating the aesthetic to scent selection, it's all been such a journey. When it came time to select the name, I knew I wanted it to incorporate my children in some way. Twelve Five is a combination of their birth dates. It seemed so perfect and I love having them tied into this little business in some way.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

Choose kindness always.

Never be afraid to slow down.

I think the industry is filled with so many incredible makers and creators. It often leaves you feeling like you need to constantly be doing - something. Biggering or taking on more. Comparison can weigh heavy. I think it is so important to take time, slow down and reflect on all the amazing things you have accomplished!

Julie Ellis & Co., is a company I created as a workshop facilitator, keynote speaker and leadership coach. It was formed after I sold my business Mabel's Labels to Avery Labels in 2015. After 13 years of co-founding, building, growing, and selling Mabel's, it was time to strike out on my own and begin the next chapter of my life.

After taking some much needed (and well deserved) time off, I found myself stuck and unsure of where to head next. I was stuck on my couch, with the walls closing in around me. I realized that I needed to get back to the big thinking that had led to our success at Mabel's Labels and so I decided to set a Big Gorgeous Goal and get moving forward once again.

As time passed and I worked towards those 'reach for the stars' goals, I began to share my experience. Selling the business and being unsure of where to head next. Ending up in a place where I put myself into a smaller box that I should have. Where my confidence sagged, and I couldn't see where I was going.

In telling my story, I learned that I wasn't alone. We all reach plateaus in our lives and careers. It's a natural place. The path to getting back on the climb is to set a Big Gorgeous Goal and to begin the process of stepping towards it. Julie Ellis & Co. gives me the opportunity to work with leaders who are at an inflection point. What got them here, won't get them to the next level. They need to set a Big Gorgeous Goal and be moving towards it, and the coaching they receive helps them to grow and expand their skills for the next leg of the journey.

When I started Confetti and Co., the idea of launching my own events business had been nagging at me for YEARS. Every 9-5 job I had ever had felt like a slog and I wanted more freedom to live a life by my own rules!

Finally, in 2016 I found the courage to start doing the thing I always said I wanted to do. A few months later, I quit my full-time gig and the rest is history.

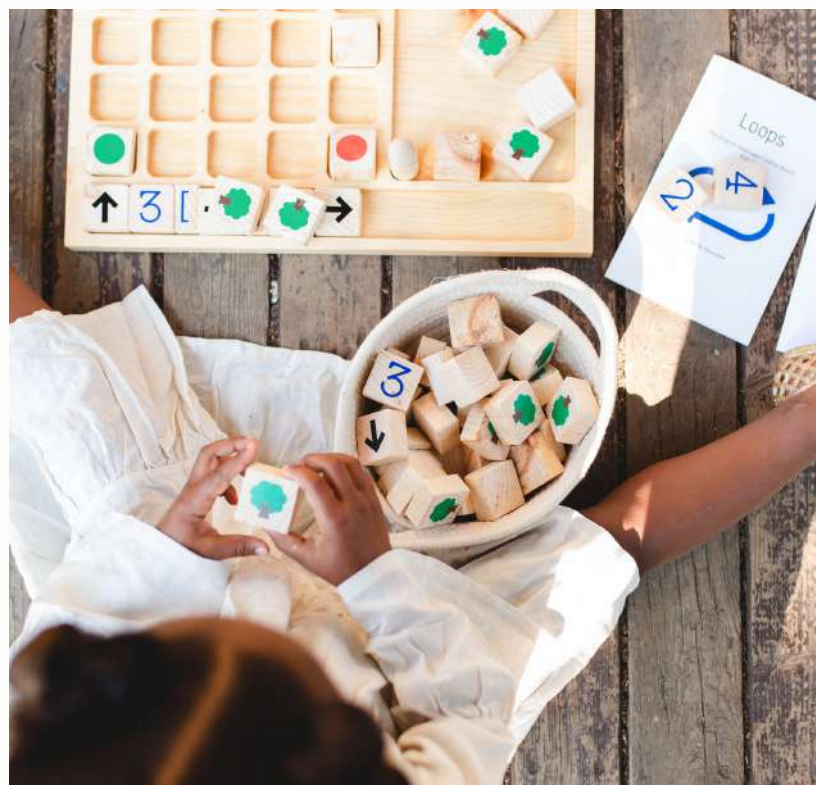

Naming my business took weeks! I wanted something personal and meaningful to both myself and the industry. I remember laying in bed one night thinking about words and phrases that people had used to describe me and Confetti and Co. was the winner!

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

My advice for other female entrepreneurs is to stop selling yourself short. We are so much more capable than we let ourselves believe! Take the leap! Surround yourself with other bad*ss women. Invest in your business (and yourself) and believe that you will be successful! You got this.

Alyssa studied Mathematics and Computer Science at the University of Waterloo. The Little Sheep Shop was inspired by both her children and her love for mathematics. She wanted to create toys that taught concepts that were typically seen as difficult or unenjoyable and make them fun and approachable.

I'm Laura Beuparlant, an award-winning speaker, author and branding expert on a mission to help as many entrepreneurs as I can turn their 'magic' into authentic and memorable brands.

I've been through a lot – both as a businesswoman and a person – including a car accident at the age of 18 that should have killed me. Instead, it left me with a long road to recovery and a profound appreciation for my life and everything in it. Two decades later – as a wife, mom and business owner – I met the man who held my hand and kept me conscious after my car accident. Meeting him was an unexpectedly pivotal moment that led me to realize I was meant for more.

I decided I wanted to have an impact – on thousands, if not millions, of lives. So I left behind the successful stationery and graphic design business I built over 12 years to do just that – and Lab Creative was born. The name came to me in the shower one day – L A B are actually my initials. I loved how there was a hidden meaning in the name and that my initials also spelled a word! I use science language throughout my brand to tie into the name.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

My biggest piece of advice for entrepreneurs is to surround yourself with amazing people who believe in you and will be there for you every step of the way – from your support network, to your friends, family and team. You don't need to do it alone and there is no shame in asking for help.

Hi, my name is Lisa Simmons. I'm a mom of two fantastic kids. Aside from family, my two greatest loves are fashion & travel. I opened Lemonberry in February 2004 and we are located in Aurora Ontario in the St. Andrew Plaza.

I am inspired by NYC street urban looks and love to travel to NYC and pick out styles and looks I can replicate in the store.

In 2013 my dad passed away and that changed my entire philosophy on life. I came to the realization that life wasn't only about working to make money.

I became more eco-aware and I saw the destruction that fashion was doing in the world (2nd largest polluting industry in the world) and I wanted to try to change that.

Lemonberry is now going in the direction of eco-conscious, non-toxic, sustainable & with an emphasis on Canadian products. I love what I do & my customers are amazing. I wouldn't want to do anything else.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

The best advice I can give to any entrepreneur is to do what you love! As an entrepreneur you will be working hard and constantly, you might as well love it and it won't feel like work.

Behind every entrepreneur and business is a good story and Love, Confetti Events is no different. One of my favorite movies growing up was Father of the Bride – Steve Martin and Martin Short as a comedic pair? Cinematic Gold. I could have watched this movie on a constant loop as a child (and even as an adult), BUT one thing was always missing – Black and Brown People who looked like me.

As I got older and really started to lean into my love for details, organization, planning and creating beautiful spaces, the lack of Black and Brown Love and Celebration representation in the events industry persisted. Having already set out on my career in hospitality, this absence ignited a fire and coupled with my passion for event planning, gave me the courage to build Love, Confetti Events.

The details and passion for my business came easy, however the name? Not so much. I knew I wanted a name that expressed celebration and what better way than to include a little confetti?! After a few brainstorming sessions, my good girlfriend, Lauren, of Crafted Artistry (Cakes & Custom Gifts), gave me the idea of making my business name a love letter of sorts, and thus...Love, Confetti Events was born.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

Be Authentic – Seek out your true self/your business identity and find the people who love what you do best. You'll never regret bringing your full self to your business and your clients/customers, will love you and your business for it too.

I started We Wild Women after I ran a successful PR agency. In the early days, I started the agency not knowing what I was doing or how to scale the company properly. In the same year, I had two babies (my boys are Irish twins) and grew our client base beyond the Canadian borders to become a globally recognized and world-class agency.

All this to say, I quickly ran into burnout and knew I needed to change the way we did business. With the help of a coach, we were able to scale to $1M in revenue with healthy profit margins. But, despite our success, I was exhausted. Newborns and toddlers, plus a hectic travel schedule, meant I was burned out and needed a new start. So I shut it down.

It wasn't long after that fateful day that many women started asking me to help them with their business, which quickly turned into a coaching opportunity and the launch of We Wild Women. Our mission: To motivate, educate and inspire women to launch and grow their dream business.

What's in the name:

We = collective

Wild = unapologetic

Women/Womxn = feminine power

We need way more women in positions of power, more female leaders, and more women in politics, as CEOs and change-makers. Entrepreneurship is an excellent vessel for this change, so I encourage all women to take a chance and make the impact we need, and growing a successful business is a perfect way to do that.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

Having an idea is the easy part. Starting is tougher. And growing a business that makes consistent profits is the most challenging piece. Most entrepreneurs give up after the first few years, not because they aren't making money but because they can't handle the curve balls thrown at them daily. To be a successful aspiring entrepreneur requires change, getting uncomfortable, and letting go of past beliefs. You have to shed layers of the old you to become the person you ought to be. It's the only way to grow and the only way to make a dent in the universe.

Handcrafted gemstone jewelry for the modern romantic. Each piece is made with real gemstones and designed to add a little pretty to your everyday.

ROUGH BARK KNITS

Rough Bark Knits is a modern, handmade, knit and crochet company.
We want you to feel cozy, comfortable and flattered in our pieces.
All of our items are made in our home studio in Hamilton, Ontario.

The reason I started my business, Your Content Bestie, was to help small business owners (women owned mostly) create an Instagram marketing strategy for their business so they could crush their business goals. After working for 10 years in the corporate world as a sales/marketing specialist I realized that the reason why big companies are able to reach their business goals is because of the experts they have working for them. But when it came to small business owners, this was something that wasn't as common since most solopreneurs have to do every role themselves and cannot afford to hire multiple experts. So I vowed to create services specially designed to help these small biz owners craft customized Instagram marketing strategies for their business, and help hold them accountable to consistently execute these strategies.

One of my biggest strengths has always been my people skills. I'm great at making connections/conversation with just about anyone. When I started my business I wasn't sure what to call it so I just came up with something super random! But after a few months of networking and making connections with potential clients I realized I wanted to be more than just a 'service provider' to my clients. I wanted to be their friend, their confidant, an inspiration and someone who would hold them accountable to making their big dreams come true. So I consulted with a friend and she suggested calling myself "your content bestie" and I immediately resonated with that name. So I instantly changed my IG handle to that and never looked back. A year later, I've fully re-branded as Your Content Bestie - because that's exactly what I am!

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

Here are my Top 10 Tips for female entrepreneurs.

1 / You are always worthy of success and happiness. 2 / Stop comparing yourself/success to others on social media. 3 / Share your story over and over, it will really connect you with others. 4 / Stop worrying about how many likes or followers you're getting on social media. 5 / Show up unapologetically as your most authentic self - messy hair and all! 6 / Invest in branding, photography and web design first & foremost this will help establish you as an expert very quickly and make you memorable in your field. 7 / Consistency is the MOST important thing when it comes to sales and marketing. 8 / Stop "should-ing" all over yourself, instead tell yourself what you WILL/GET to do! 9 / You are your own superpower, keep working on yourself to harness that power. 10 / Instead of saying sorry, say "thank you" it is way more assertive.

I started my journey in entrepreneurship back in 2009 when I was just 30 years old and I was in Corporate America. I started my business because I realized that the job I was in was a job that was not the right fit for me. My job made me feel like a caged bird. I stayed in that job for 1 year because I was the girl who went from kindergarten to graduate school and I thought that I had arrived by being in that job. I had the 3 Bs: Business Cards, Big Girl Paychecks and Benefits. I kept asking myself if I quit, what I would do. When I found the courage and confidence to resign from my job I started my business.

In 2017, I changed the name of my business to Living The Life I Love, LLC because God literally dropped that name in my Spirit one day. It is named that because my business exists to help people to live their life the way that they desire to. I believe that when people are able to live the life that they love it helps to eradicate suicide, depression, anxiety and more.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

My advice is that your business is your business, run it like it is! If there was only one way to run a business there would not be so many hamburger restaurants in your city. Just think about it. From low end to high end there are different restaurants that serve the same hamburger.

My name is Tique Chandler, and I grew up in a very small town in Alberta on a bee farm, where I learned how to care for bees at a young age. Even as an adult, my parents' honey was always my favourite, but I knew I wanted to put my own unique spin on the product to make it my own. Chandler Honey is a collection of naturally infused raw honey, all from my parents' farm, made with the addition of real ingredients like lemon zest or Madagascar vanilla beans. Love is added to the product every step of the way.

I picked the name Chandler Honey (Chandler being my maiden name) because I got married around the same time the business launched. While I legally changed my surname to match my husband's, I knew I wanted to keep Chandler with me in a meaningful way. I can think of no greater way to honour my family's history or my childhood than to associate it with products I am so deeply passionate about.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

My advice to aspiring entrepreneurs is that there is never a 'right' time to start a business; you just have to take the leap! Everything is figure-out-able along the way. To women in particular, I would urge you to be bold, be your own biggest advocate, and trust that most often the scary things are the most worth doing.

I'm best associated with Rev, my boutique PR, marketing & events agency of over 15 years. Rev has given me the creative freedom to build brands, tell stories, create memorable experiences - all while allowing me to build something for myself, share my voice, and create a professional life that complements family life too. This is why I started, it was important for me to create my own limits in work and life.

Joy & Joie is my newest and very meaningful venture. Like Rev, there are stories and events to share but at the heart of this is JOY. If I could share a story that brings a smile to your face, share a lesson that resonates with you, or create an event that brings you joy...my goal is accomplished.

At my former job I worked with the best group of women. Everyone called us the Dream Team. When I started my own agency, it was about breathing life into a new dream. I chose Rev as in French "rêve" means dream (how fitting this is about Beautiful Dreamers) and in English, I love its positive connotation of accelerating. Rev it up!

For Joy & Joie, it's what I am constantly seeking in life and the name just naturally popped in my head.

WORDS OF INSPIRATION.

Make time for joy.

When you make time for joy, you're making time for YOU. Your productivity actually improves when you feed what makes you feel alive. It will rev up your creativity, your energy, your motivation to achieve any goal. After years of living at a frenzied pace, hustling and chasing my goals, I realized that I had somehow ran right past what made me happy. Now I'm more mindful about injecting joy into my schedule so it doesn't get lost in the busyness of life.

A Beautiful Reminder.

There is freedom waiting for you,
On the breezes of the sky,
And you ask "What if I fall?"
Oh but my darling,
What if you fly?
