

Lead Instructor Opportunity with Bay Area Education StartUp

PATHworks is seeking educators with experience in sports to join our founding team as we launch our very first summer camp! As a lead instructor, you will gain training in sports education instruction techniques and have the opportunity to refine your experiential teaching skills. In addition, you will gain leadership experience at an education startup and have the opportunity to contribute to long-term program design.

About PATHworks

PATHworks is a youth development company that merges sports participation and academic learning for middle school students. Our sport-inspired curriculum reinforces STEM & Language Arts education through structured sports play. PATHworks is the brainchild of US Olympian and Stanford grad Erica McLain and is co-founded by a team of students at the UC Berkeley Haas School of Business and Goldman School of Public Policy. PATHworks will launch our first summer camp for approximately 60 students per week at SportsHouse in Redwood City.

JOIN US THIS SUMMER for a transformative experience. We're on a mission to prove that personal passions, such as sports, can be utilized to enhance academic outcomes. With your help, students will leave our program happier, healthier, and with an increased ability to focus and achieve in school... all while learning through active sports participation.

Job Description

Responsibilities will include:

- Daily lesson planning. While a high-level curriculum will be provided, lead instructors will be responsible for day-to-day lesson planning.
- Instructing students in a combination of sports skills and academic objectives during one 2-week summer camp session. Students are in session from 9AM - 4PM
- Managing a college student intern (or two) who will be assigned to your class
- Other responsibilities as necessary and desired - During the time that camp is not in session, you will have the opportunity to contribute to program design and evaluation

Duration

Our goal is to find awesome teachers who will be eager to engage in lesson planning, teaching, and working on program design and evaluation June 29th - August 7th. Start date can be flexible.

PATHworks will hold one 2-week pilot session from:

- July 27th - August 7th (@SportsHouse, Redwood City)

Required Qualifications

- At least one year of full-time teaching experience, ideally at the middle school level
- Experience as an athlete or coach
- Interest in inspiring and engaging middle school students through sports
- Ability to work in an ambiguous, fast-paced environment – we are a startup!
- A self-starter, passionate about PATHworks' mission

Preferred Qualifications

- Hold or working toward an official teaching license
- Hold or working toward a Master's in Education
- Ability to instruct students in multiple sports

Salary

Lead Instructors will be paid a stipend based on qualifications and experience for the 6 weeks, with potential for joining the team full time.

Apply Today!

To apply and drop your resume, please visit www.mypathworks.com/gethired.

In addition to standard, quick informational questions, you will be asked to respond to the following short-answer prompt: Please tell us why you're interested in experiential teaching through sports (not an essay contest - 100 words or less!).

If you have any questions, feel free to contact us at: careers@mypathworks.com.