Glenroy College Marches in Centenary Anzac Day Parade

On Friday April 25th, the Glenroy College Band will perform and march in the Anzac Day Parade to commemorate the centenary of World War 1. They students will march from St Paul's Cathedral to the Shrine of Remembrance.

“The students are very excited and proud to be performing in this year’s March, it is the first year we have been asked to perform. They have shown such dignity and pride in their performance and in their preparation for the event, they have come in the school holidays to rehearse. All of the students want to represent the school well and want to show ultimate respect to Australia’s soldiers. It is great to see our students give up a public holiday to perform especially as they will be getting up very early to perform. I feel very proud of them already” Ms Sylvia Kaklamanis, Instrumental Music Department Leader.

We would like to invite you do a story about our students being involved in this year’s Anzac Day March in our local paper. For more information please Jacinta Tse, Communications and Community on 9304 0400 on Mondays and Thursdays or anytime on tse.jacinta.f@edumail.vic.gov.au
