Pay-Per-Transaction[®]

increase revenue with lower risks in home video distribution

As investment in original content continues to flourish, content owners and suppliers need incremental distribution channels to reach consumers. Pay-Per-Transaction[®] implements a revenue-sharing solution built on a trustworthy measurement platform that connects content owners with thousands of video retailers and distributors.

The current upfront payment business model creates inefficiencies in the video distribution chain, limiting title selection and distribution.

Pay-Per-Transaction[®] enables video retailers and distributors to access a wider selection of video titles cost effectively while providing content owners new distribution channels and revenue streams incremental to their existing model.
