Great Expectations is a documentary which presents an astonishing global journey charting visionary, innovative, futuristic, utopian and often bizarre architectural projects from the beginning of the 20th century to present. It presents both realised and unrealised projects from many parts of the World.
Visionary architects and artists, motivated by contemporary problems like housing shortages, urban decay and pollution, set about to create changes in our way of living that challenged conventional concepts. This documentary introduces us to the great personalities and architectural movements of the 20th century.
