The White Building
by David Kohn Architects

Thursday 09 April 2015 at 6:30pm

Building and Brewery Tour
David Kohn (DKA) and James Kellow (Crate Brewery)
Queen's Yard, White Post Lane, London E9 5EN
£5 AIA members / £10 non-members
 gifs hackney wick overground (4 min walk)
The AIA UK Chapter cordially invites you to a special edition of our ongoing series of building tours:

The White Building
by David Kohn Architects

Building and Brewery Tour

David Kohn (DKA) will give a short introduction to the project followed by a tour of the arts facilities and events spaces.

Following that, James Kellow (Crate Brewery) will give a tour of the Crate Brewery facilities, including a tasting session of their current creations.

Participants are invited to stay following the tour to enjoy further Crate’s fine craft beer and artisan pizzas (cost not included in the tour).

2 CES Credits are available.
Admission is £5 for AIA members and £10 for non-members.
Places are very limited.
RSVP Details on our website.

When: Thursday, 09 April 2015 at 6:30pm
Where: Queen’s Yard
White Post Lane
London E9 5EN

Meeting Point: the entrance on White Post Lane

Nearest Tube: Hackney Wick Overground (4 min walk)
Bus 26 / 30 / 236 / 388 / 488

The White Building is London’s centre for art, technology and sustainability. An incubator for discursive and innovative thought, it serves as a testing ground and creative lab for artists and creatives whose work engages with technology.

Run by SPACE, The White Building’s aim is to act as an international beacon for local creative industries, as well as a resource and venue for residential and educational communities in the area.

CRATE is built, owned and operated by locals. Opening in 2012, the brewery and pizzeria is a driving force behind the rejuvenation of Hackney Wick.

“Hackney Wick’s offbeat White Building has all the hallmarks of a sensitive Olympic legacy.”
— The Observer