‘CROSSING THE POND’ 20 YEARS ON ... PART 3 OF 3

September 29, 2019

Uncertainty and Change

The 1990s Big Bang had a positive effect on the UK economy, and the American firms that followed it were comfortably settled by 1995. Since then, the British economy has experienced a period of uncertainty and change. The most recent recession—2008-2009—was a sharp contrast to the boom, leaving many architects and designers struggling to make ends meet. Yet, the large American firms were not immune, and some are reported to have moved to Europe to find new opportunities. Despite these challenges, the UK remains a vibrant hub for the architectural community—on both sides of the pond.
