

INTERNATIONAL DIAGNOSTIC SOLUTIONS: INSIGHT FROM OFFSITE

What do we do?

IDS develops unique educational solutions for parents and schools. Worried about leaving your special educational needs (SEN) support behind? Take our experts with you on your next global assignment. Our multidisciplinary team will help you with educational planning, therapeutic services, and transition support as you settle into your new home and school. We'll even follow you to the next post, too! We coordinate all aspects of your child's SEN so you don't have to. We'll even train teachers how to support your child in the international school classroom!

How do we do it?

Our services are delivered online in the homes and classrooms of our clients, making accessibility an internet connection and a click away.

Why do we do it?

At IDS, we believe that all children can succeed with the right help, and that a globally mobile family can still live their mobile lifestyle, even when their child faces educational challenges. All it takes is the Insight from Offsite solution!

International Diagnostic Solutions

International Diagnostic Solutions (IDS) provides educational and therapeutic solutions worldwide through online consultation, service, and program development. Our mission is to remove geographic and financial barriers children and families face in order to access necessary experts and resources for educational success.

Based in Washington, DC, the IDS consultants, a multidisciplinary team of professionals, develop unique academic and therapeutic solutions for our clients using in-person and online delivery of support. IDS makes comprehensive assessment, intervention, and consultation readily available and affordable for globally mobile families, international education programs, and corporations supporting an international workforce.

Insight from Offsite

Our signature online approach to bringing a team of special educational needs (SEN) experts to children and teachers worldwide.

Transition Support: We analyze your child's needs, develop an educational plan (similar to an IEP), and communicate with prospective schools and local providers. Our multidisciplinary team makes sure academic & therapeutic goals and objectives are being met, providing ongoing consultation to ensure your child's success. Moving again? No problem! We'll help make sure your child's SEN support makes a smooth transition!

Educational & Therapy Coordination: SEN support is new in the international schools. Our online team will make sure teachers, aides, and providers know just what accommodations your child needs to be successful. Whether one time or ongoing, our training helps teachers to differentiate your child's instruction, provides aides with the tools for day to day support, and offers expert supervision to local therapists in specialty interventions not commonly available worldwide (see side list).

Direct Online Therapy & Consultation: IDS gives you access to the therapy your child needs through online delivery in the home or school (see side). We also train parents, empowering them to support their child on the road, helping them to help their child.
