Our Mission

Engaging community at the intersection of art, history and education through innovative, locally connected and globally relevant exhibits programs and experiences.

Our Vision

NUMU offers equal and equitable representation, opportunities and services to all stakeholders through our operations, exhibitions, public programs, and permanent collection.

Our Equity Statement

NUMU recognizes the need to be proactively antiracist, accessible to all, and relevant to the regions we serve, both within Los Gatos and throughout the Bay Area. With NUMU’s strategic vision to be more civically and community focused, and to align with the Town of Los Gatos’ commitment to be inclusive, the museum will host exhibits and programs that are responsive to its communities. We will partner with artists, organizations, and civic bodies to make art and history come alive.

We are all weary of talking about COVID-19. However, it has had a profound effect on museums, and at NUMU, we were in the depths of it our entire fiscal year. When the pandemic started, the American Alliance of Museums estimated that one in three museums would close forever. Many museums rely on visitors, special events, and other in-person activities for vital funding that not only keeps the lights on but compensates artists and staff. Unlike other businesses, museums had to suddenly and indefinitely close, and many laid off most of their public facing staff.

When I began my role in January 2021 during the most restrictive status of Purple Tier, I immediately witnessed the inspiring support of the incredible NUMU community. Throughout last year, the Town of Los Gatos gave us a lifeline in the form of rent forgiveness. The majority of our loyal supporters continued to donate, helping us sustain our staff and work on ways to pivot to a new program model. The NUMU staff put together the innovative fundraiser, Art in the Time of Corona, aimed at supporting artists with an auction exhibition while also benefitting the museum. We researched and inventoried our collection with funding from the County of Santa Clara’s Historic Grant Program. We drafted an equity statement, and we met regularly as a board and staff to chart a plan for a more inclusive future for NUMU. The staff also began an exciting series of virtual exhibitions and programming that showed us all the benefits of the virtual realm: we encountered art and history in a way we weren’t able to before. And, we retained all of our team, who worked hard to produce excellent art and history experiences from their home offices. We finally reopened our doors in May 2021 with Sawyer Rose: Carrying Stones, powerful sculptural work that reveals the unacknowledged unpaid labor of women in our society, helping us look towards solutions for a better, more equitable world.

While the COVID-19 pandemic has tested our entire community, one thing is certain: art and history are essential. I am proud and honored to work with a talented staff, volunteer board, and loyal donors to help ensure art and culture remain central to our lives, and remain at the core of NUMU, whether virtual or in person. I am also appreciative of my immediate predecessor, Maureen Cappon-Javey, who had the vision and fortitude to keep NUMU vibrant during her tenure. As always, my door is open to you, our community of supporters. Email me at ed@numulosgatos.org anytime, and let’s envision the future of art and history experiences together.

Exhibitions

Featuring art and history that is sometimes familiar and often surprising, NUMU’s exhibitions inspire visitors from all over the country, providing new insights about Los Gatos and beyond. NUMU’s galleries present emerging and established artists, diverse voices, and a platform for untold stories. We bring people together to dialogue about the critical issues of our times and experience our unique fusion of art and history.

2020 was a year of pivoting and many firsts. Although the museum remained closed to the public for 13 months, we continued to serve our community by making all our exhibitions available online. If you missed a show, you can still view it on our website.

ART IN THE TIME OF CORONA
December 11, 2020 - March 21, 2021
NUMU hosted a benefit auction exhibition of artwork created during, and inspired by, the massive social and political upheaval of the COVID-19 pandemic. This exhibition featuring 52 artists was on view in the NUMU galleries, as well as virtually through the NUMU website. Juried by curator and gallerist Craig Krull, it presented an opportunity to experience an eclectic range of groundbreaking work, united by this urgent theme.

“To me, this exhibit represented both the diversity and similarities that unite artists during a time of love, loss, and remembrance. I was honored to be a part of it.”
-Marsha McDonald, Exhibiting Artist

“During an unprecedented time, NUMU gave artists a place to collectively share our experiences of isolation. Forging our way through quarantine, this exhibition gave us the connection with others we had been longing for.”
-Jessica Cardelucci, Exhibiting Artist

A CALL TO COLLECT: WHIMSY AROUND THE WORLD
February 28, 2020 - January 2, 2021
An investigation into the pursuit of collecting international folk art, featuring prized pieces from the collection of Los Gatos residents Lee and Dr. Paul Quintana. Curated by Allison Railo.

IMAGE + OBJECT
July 10 - November 29, 2020
An exhibition exploring innovations in alternative process photography, featuring works by Bay Area artists, Chris McCaw, Moira McDonald, Klea McKenna, and Meghann Riepenhoff, Image + Object explored alternative process photography through the unique photographic works of four Bay Area contemporary photographers, each of whom challenges our notions of photography as reflection, documentation and separation. Curated by Allison Railo.

LAUREL GAUMER
September 25 - January 24, 2021
Gaumer’s (Un)Wearable series fuses the ornate ancient crafts of metalsmithing, jewelry, and glassblowing to broach sometimes painful conversations about expectations of beauty, feminism, power, and self-worth.

TONY MAY
February 5 - May 9, 2021
Visitors followed May on his journey of creating the site-specific installation for the San José Museum of Art, Variable Book Construction (Bookmobile), (1991-95). With behind-the-scenes photos of May’s T. House, workspace, and drafting table, as well as a few select tools that help May get the job done, visitors learned about the artistry in the time and the care that May dedicates to his tasks.

IN THE ARTIST’S STUDIO EXHIBITION SERIES
In the Artist’s Studio is a recurring exhibition program that focuses on artists’ studio practices, processes, techniques and creative problem solving strategies.

ART IN THE TIME OF CORONA
TONY MAY: VIEWS OF THE T. HOUSE
February 5 - May 9, 2021

San Jose artist Tony May’s meticulous photorealistic paintings documented the gradual progression of his idiosyncratic, functional, and on-going construction project, the T. House.

SAWYER ROSE: CARRYING STONES
May 21, 2021 - January 23, 2022

We reopened in May 2021 with Sawyer Rose: Carrying Stones, an exhibition exploring the unpaid work of women through sculptures and data visualizations. It included an interactive artwork, Balance Due, inviting visitors to calculate their own unpaid labor and interviews with women from all over the country examining their lived experience with underrecognized domestic labor.
Due to COVID-19, we held our annual juried high school exhibition, ArtNow, entirely virtually, hosting an interactive online exhibit and a series of programs that amplified this year’s theme. The 2021 theme “Good Trouble” inspired 78 artists to create work reflecting on current social issues such as Black Lives Matter, LGBTQ+ rights, and the environmental crisis. This year allowed us to build new partnerships, reflect deeply on the relevance of the theme Good Trouble, and ignited our ongoing desire to help emerging young artists grow professionally and reflect on themes of social justice through their art. Our programs and the distribution of $10,000 in scholarships ensured that our community felt the impact of these students’ artwork and perspectives on social issues during the pandemic.

Our Virtual Closing & Awards Ceremony allowed us to celebrate our award winners with remarks from the 2021 Los Gatos Town Poet Laureate Jen Siraganian, our very own Los Gatos Mayor Marico Sayoc, and our generous ArtNow sponsors and supporters including Mike and Alyce Parsons and the Los Gatos Morning Rotary.

“The artnow art competition ended up being one of the highlights of my year. It had given me a place to direct my energy over quarantine, and winning was such a happy surprise for me. Also, getting to investigate the theme “good trouble” was a great learning experience as I made my piece.”

VIRTUAL PROGRAMS

While the museum was temporarily closed, we brought our constituents into the homes and studios of our exhibiting artists through our virtual Meet the Artists series that gave insight into the practices, inspiration and real lives of our featured exhibiting artists. Participants had the opportunity to learn more about artists’ creative processes, view works in progress, and ask questions. In a desire to hear directly from our museum supporters, we hosted a series of virtual Happy Hours with our ED Ami Davis. This effort to have meaningful discussions about hard hitting topics, and the impact of the pandemic on the artists and institutions, grew into a new program series we've launched called Community Conversations. In this new series, we are committed to unpacking the themes and questions present in our current exhibitions by featuring the voices of local artists, communities, and knowledge holders.

“NUMU is the Town of Los Gatos’ partner in cultivating a creative and inclusive community. Together, we strive for a vibrant cultural institution to inspire us, expand our minds, and open our hearts. We look forward to partnering with NUMU on exhibitions and programs that make us think and help us heal from the pandemic.”

-Marico Sayoc, Mayor, Town of Los Gatos

YOUTH PROGRAMING

Once again, NUMU partnered with Los Gatos-Saratoga Recreation and the Town of Los Gatos to deliver the annual Footbridge Mural Camp in both 2020 and 2021 for young artists to learn new painting skills and leave their mark on the Los Gatos Footbridge for all to see. We adapted the program to COVID-19 restrictions in 2021 and took the kids outside to learn basic art techniques, visit local Los Gatos landmarks, explore the rich history of Los Gatos, and create a one-of-kind painting that will be on display at the Forbes Mill footbridge. We were also able to pilot virtual versions of our long running Museum Explorer program, which engages K-5 students in Santa Clara with art and history. Having the chance to rethink and reshape our youth programs opened the door to new possibilities of how to structure and deliver these programs, and gave us a chance to think creatively in preparation for the coming year.

Programs by the Numbers

- 55+ guest speakers
- 30+ virtual programs
- 400+ virtual program attendees
- 68 community partners
- 48 kids served during our Footbridge program

NEW MUSEUM LOS GATOS | FY 2021 ANNUAL REPORT 9
The Permanent Collections

THE LOS GATOS HISTORY PROJECT

Since its founding in 1965, NUMU has been the caretaker of local and regional artifacts that have a story to tell. The Los Gatos History Project (LGHP) was launched in September 2020 to learn more about this collection, and make it available for the public. We are examining our history collection for untold histories of our community, including those left out of traditional history.

The first phase entails cataloging, rehousing, and digitizing NUMU’s entire art and history collections of over an estimated 3,000 objects, in addition to updating the furnishings in the collections storage room and purchasing museum-grade materials to properly house artifacts and artworks for preservation. To date, our registrar Alexandra Schindler has diligently photographed, catalogued and uploaded over 800 items onto an online searchable database CatalogIT; this database will be available to the public in the coming months. In addition, we have almost completed the update of the collections storage room. The museum has also launched Phase III of the project, sharing the history and untold stories of our past, and educating local and global communities about the lives and times of Los Gatos residents and the surrounding region. Once work on digitally cataloging the collection began, NUMU instituted a collecting freeze to focus on those objects already in its holdings and recalibrate our history collections policy.

To learn more about NUMU’s history collection and its origins, visit numulosgatos.org/ghp.
Members

Our members are the foundation upon which the museum is built and continues to thrive. NUMU retained 305 members in 2020-21 (even while our doors were closed) and were critical to our ability to continue serving our community with art and history. To inquire about membership benefits, please email membership@numulosgatos.org.

DIRECTOR’S CIRCLE COLLECTING PROGRAM (EST 2016)

Circle members are a philanthropic group of art, history and culture enthusiasts who support NUMU and the arts community. In appreciation, Director’s Circle members receive a limited edition original artwork created by a Bay Area artist, commissioned by the museum. NUMU also receives an edition to grow our museum art collection. This year’s featured artist was printmaker Fanny Retsek.

“We are Director’s Circle members because not only do we receive a new work of art each year for our own collection, but we support NUMU and its growing art collection, too. Each new NUMU exhibit starts with anticipation, takes us through a range of emotions from excitement, inspiration, and wonder, then leaves us intellectually stimulated and energized. The Director’s Circle takes us even deeper and is a wonderful way to learn about new artists and connect with other art lovers. We can’t wait to see what’s to come in 2022!”

-KARLA ALBRIGHT AND CHRIS BURKHART

OPEN TO ALL

NUMU has joined two nationwide programs, Museums for All and Blue Star Museums. Museums for All is a way to reach out to underserved communities by offering discounted admission. By addressing financial and logistical barriers to visitation, Museums for All also aspires to be an effective strategy for mitigating the social and academic barriers individuals face when they are not exposed to high-quality museum experiences. Blue Star Museums supports free admission to the nation’s active-duty military personnel and their families, including National Guard and Reserve.

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

We are so proud of the line-up of events that we were able to organize, particularly for ArtNow, despite all of the limitations of COVID-19. We built new partnerships with organizations like Mosaic America for our event Celebrating Good Trouble: A Mosaic of Artists and Performances which featured local artists LaToya Fernandez, Lisa Rosenberg, Ray Furuta, and Urmila Vudali.

This celebration lent us the opportunity to highlight artists who are committed to creating their own kinds of good trouble through their art. We invited local art advocates and educators Sofia Fojas, Ron P. Muriera, and Usha Srinivasan to weigh in on how the arts can function as a vector for anti-racism in Santa Clara County and beyond in our event Unpacking Good Trouble: A Thoughtful Conversation.
