#CRPSORANGEDAY™

November 5, 2018

It’s a new day in the fight against Complex Regional Pain Syndrome/Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy
Celebrating Color The World Orange™ 2017

The fourth-annual Color The World Orange™ in 2017 celebrated around the globe was the biggest yet.

More than 100 buildings, bridges and landmarks across the U.S., Canada, Australia and the U.K. including billboards in Times Square New York, Niagara Falls and the Trafalgar Square fountains in London, were lit orange for Color The World Orange™ 2017.

More than 75 proclamations were granted by U.S. and Canadian officials recognizing Color The World Orange™ and November as CRPS/RSD awareness month.

There was media coverage in newspapers and television.

About Us

Color The World Orange™ is an annual global event held the first Monday of November to spread awareness of Complex Regional Pain Syndrome (CRPS), also known as Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy (RSD).

The easiest way to get involved is to wear orange and share a photo on social media with the hashtag: #CRPSORANGEDAY™

Working together we can bring attention to this poorly understood condition.

Color The World Orange™ is an independent initiative.

Let’s show the world that while we are in pain, we are strong!

What is CRPS/RSD?

Complex Regional Pain Syndrome (CRPS), also known as Reflex Sympathetic Dystrophy (RSD), is a chronic pain condition characterized by continuous, intense and often burning, pain that is out of proportion to the severity of the original injury.

Symptoms can include changes in the skin color and temperature of the affected body part, as well as skin sensitivity, sweating and swelling.

For more information about CRPS/RSD, please visit the National Institutes of Health (NIH) website at: https://www.ninds.nih.gov/Disorders/All-Disorders/Complex-Regional-Pain-Syndrome-Information-Page
