Here’s why: Owls are susceptible to all rodent poison. The poison comes from common household pesticides, the most dangerous of which are called Anticoagulant Rodenticides. These slow-acting poisons are eaten for several days by rats and mice, causing the toxins to accumulate at many times the lethal dose in their tissues. Predators like hawks, owls, foxes, bobcats and mountain lions that feed on contaminated rodents are then also poisoned - and as a result, die.

Domestic animals like dogs and cats are especially vulnerable to these poisons and thousands of young children accidentally eat rodent poison every year!

CLAW asks our neighbors to join in creating a poison-free environment where wildlife can thrive.

Meet Nature’s Best Rodent Control!

- Barn Owls are one of three owl species native to the Los Angeles area.
- Just one Barn Owl family can consume up to 10,000 rats a year!
- Barn Owls only eat rodents - so they are no threat to pets.

Your neighbors are installing Nesting Cavities for Barn Owls!

HERE’S WHAT YOU CAN DO:

- STOP using rodent poisons*
- Minimize attractants like unsealed trash & fallen fruit.
- Seal all cracks and crevices that may lead to your home, attic, garage and crawl space.
- Use ½ inch metal mesh, (not chicken wire) to seal off entry points, and steel wool for smaller holes.
- Use mechanical traps such as capture, snap or electronic.
- Support the Barn Owl Nesting Box Program by making a tax-deductible donation to CLAW at www.clawonline.org

* Here’s why: Owls are susceptible to all rodent poison. The poison comes from common household pesticides, the most dangerous of which are called Anticoagulant Rodenticides. These slow-acting poisons are eaten for several days by rats and mice, causing the toxins to accumulate at many times the lethal dose in their tissues.

Domestic animals like dogs and cats are especially vulnerable to these poisons and thousands of young children accidentally eat rodent poison every year!

Your Neighbor is installing a Barn Owl Nesting Box So please don’t use any rodent poison!

Hello Neighbor!

Citizens for Los Angeles Wildlife Barn Owl Nesting Box Program
visit: www.clawonline.org

Citizens for Los Angeles Wildlife, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt corporation.