PROJECT STATEMENT

To create a clear and hassle free information system that will allow RIT students to efficiently manage courses and track degrees.

HOLISTIC RESEARCH

- 1 Color
Where is the color scheme coming from?
This page has nothing to do with RIT.
Incorrect
- 2 I actually am enrolled in classes so I am not sure why it says I am not.
- 3 Not needed information
I know my personal info, I do not understand why it is so big and on the main page.
- 4 Important
These links are very important but get overlooked quickly because they do not stand out.
- 5 Hierarchy
Why is this so big and awkward?
- 6 What is there?
I have a feeling more important is in there and I wish I could see it.
- 7 Useless
Why so much space here but then information goes off the page that I can't see

GOALS

- To have the information on the site be organized in an intuitive way in order to help students easily find what they are looking for.
- Create a place where people can go to ask questions and receive confident results rather than having to go ask friends/others.
- Have the site designed in a way that is appealing and reflective of the RIT brand and identity.
- Make the site applicable to use on any device.

USER

- RIT Students
- Needs to accomplish goals quickly and with few errors
- Likes easy and obvious things. The easier the better

Description

GRDE-302 Web and User Interface Design

This course is an introduction to the planning, design, and production of interactive projects that are web based. Students will be introduced to web design concepts and principles in site design, page design, graphical user interface design, and usability. The course will include instruction in building pages and creating interactive functions with HTML, CSS, and web production software. Students will be encouraged to explore highly structured as well as highly experimental approaches to merging content with interactivity design. The course will also incorporate social-cultural issues in new media. (GRDE-207 Interactive Media Design) Class 2, Lab 4, Credit 3 (Fall)

Description

GRDE-302 Web and User Interface Design

This course is an introduction to the planning, design, and production of interactive projects that are web based. Students will be introduced to web design concepts and principles in site design, page design, graphical user interface design, and usability. The course will include instruction in building pages and creating interactive functions with HTML, CSS, and web production software. Students will be encouraged to explore highly structured as well as highly experimental approaches to merging content with interactivity design. The course will also incorporate social-cultural issues in new media. (GRDE-207 Interactive Media Design) Class 2, Lab 4, Credit 3 (Fall)

SUMMARY

- Things and places that students need most and more frequently are now easier to find and navigate to. Fewer clicks are needed to achieve goals.
- The color scheme and layout better represents RIT. Overall, it has a more modern feel to it.
- The page is more customizable to each user's personal preferences.
- Information is presented and understood in a clearer way through color, hierarchy, and type.
