THE MAP
A geo-tagged database of noteworthy architecture, designed landscapes, and built spaces throughout Maine. The map will be composed of paired photographs and descriptions submitted by local architects and designers and will be shared with both the architectural community and wider public to promote the diversity of design in our state.

MONTHLY COMPETITION
Each month we will ask Maine architects and designers to submit a single building, designed landscape, or built space within a designated county in Maine. Participants should consider a location for which they hold a personal excitement and want to share it with others. Entries will be due on first day of each month according to the schedule on the right. A rotating jury will select a single winner each month that best evokes a designed place through a paired photograph and description. All entries will be added to the geo-tagged map.

ELIGIBILITY
Architects, architectural designers, and architecture students that live, work, or study in the state of Maine. Participants may only submit one entry per monthly competition.

SUBMISSION FORMAT
Submit the following at aiamaine.org/map:
• A single square photo - 5” x 5” JPG 300 dpi.
  Template available at aiamaine.org/map
• A 50 to 150 word description (see below).
• Location address, be specific so it can be geo-tagged.
• Architect, landscape architect, or designer (if available).
• Year built/completed (if available).

Descriptions should be descriptive, evocative, and concise. Keep in mind that it will be viewed publicly online. Beyond its technical qualities, what makes it unique and special in design and meaning? What does the place mean to you personally and why should others go out of their way to see it for themselves? The location must be respectfully viewable from a public space or street so as not to encourage trespassing. Participants are asked not to submit designs that they were involved with directly or indirectly.
