A climb back in time

In another era, observers scanned the mountains from these fire towers, looking for signs of forest fires. Today, New York state uses more modern methods, but the towers now offer unparalleled 360-degree views of the Catskill Mountains and beyond for hikers.

Hardworking volunteer groups, together with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation and nonprofit organizations including the Catskill Center, completed restoration of the towers in 2001, making them ready for a new role and new visitors.

Each summer, thousands of people from all over the world visit the towers to enjoy the awesome beauty and splendor of their surroundings. Volunteer interpreters welcome them, sharing the history and lore of the towers and mountains.

Catskill Fire Tower Passport Program

Earn a Catskill Fire Towers Badge! Hike one (or more) of the Catskill fire towers this summer, then log your hike on a Morgan Outdoors Fire Tower Passport, available at Morgan Outdoors in Livingston Manor at 46 Main Street or online at www.nynjtc.org/catskillfiretowers. Turn in your completed passport at Morgan Outdoors by October 13, 2014 and collect your badge. You'll also be entered in a drawing to win prizes, including a handy pair of Nikon Travelite Binoculars. The Catskill Fire Tower Passport is a joint program of Morgan Outdoors, the Watershed Post and the New York-New Jersey Trail Conference.

Volunteers in the Catskills

New York-New Jersey Trail Conference volunteers and member organizations maintain hundreds of miles of trails and over two dozen lean-to shelters in the Catskill Forest Preserve and along the Long Path north of the park boundary.

Learn about trail and lean-to maintenance, trail crew work, trainings and workshops, conservation and advocacy efforts, events, and other Catskills-related news by visiting www.nynjtc.org/catskills.

Overlook Mountain Fire Tower

Town of Woodstock – Elevation 3,140 feet

This tower is the newest of the five remaining fire towers in the Catskill Park, having been at its present location since 1950. The tower itself is much older, as it was originally constructed in 1927 on Gallis Hill, just west of Kingston. The Overlook tower reaches 60 feet in height and offers incredible views of the Hudson River valley, the Ashokan Reservoir, and the Devil’s Path. The tower closed in 1988, and work on restoring it began in 1998. It officially re-opened on June 5, 1999, marking the first tower to re-open in the Catskills in more than a decade. Today, the tower is staffed by volunteers on weekends throughout the summer.

Directions:
Take the Overlook Spur Trail, marked with red markers, from the trailhead parking on Meads Mountain Road to the Fire Tower and return via the same trail for a 4.6 mile, moderately-difficult hike. Visit hikes.nynjtc.org for more detailed trail and driving directions.
