“My Father illustrations” is a campaign dedicated to fathers who fearlessly fight for the rights of their daughters. It is a collection of illustrated positive father-daughter true stories from all over the world. Fathers and daughters are equal stakeholders of this project. This series is not just about how fathers stand for their daughters but also about how daughters imagine their fathers to be. As an artist & founder of this project, I believe every positive story can create another. And “My Father illustrations” is trying to keep that positive effect alive.

— Debasmita Dasgupta, Artist

He gives her courage to beat all forms of violence against women.
He stands against all odds to provide her education.

He saves her from being a child bride.