Lonna Marie believes you can have it all when it comes to pop music: a melody that you can't get out of your head and lyrics that actually matter. Her music is driven by emotion and the desire to feel a connection--with each lyric more honest and vulnerable than the last.

Originally from Hollywood, Florida, Lonna Marie studied Musical Theater at The New World School of Arts and moved to New York City at eighteen. She then joined the national tour of Brooklyn the Musical as understudy to lead, Diana DeGarmo then again as understudy to lead, Gabriella Montez in both High School Musical and High School Musical 2.

While living in New York City, Lonna Marie developed her solo career and recorded her debut EP, Oh No. In 2012, she said goodbye for now to New York City with a packed final performance at The Studio at Webster Hall to kick off her first solo tour. Major stops included Nashville, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas, and Los Angeles.

Since moving to Los Angeles, Lonna Marie has played some of the city's most sought-after venues including The House of Blues, Whisky A Go Go, The Hotel Cafe, Room 5, and The Standard Hotel.

In 2014, LM recorded Better Day, a throwback collaboration with producer, Roger Greenawalt (Rufus Wainwright, The Pierces, Ben Kweller). Later in 2014, Lonna Marie worked with Will Golden (Gomez, Matt Nathanson, Meiko, Michelle Branch) to record her three-track sophomore EP, The Worst Has Just Begun. The album's first single, Drifting is currently in rotation on independent radio stations nationwide, was licensed by Viacom for use across their television networks, and was named runner up in The Song of the Year songwriting contest.

In 2015, Lonna Marie's yet-to-be-released single, Blue Bird won the grand prize of The Big Hook contest--awarding her an all-expenses paid trip to Nashville to write and record with industry veterans. When she's not writing for herself, Lonna Marie also composes songs for other performers as well as national brands like Tesla, Dropbox, and Paypal.
