Inspiring student success
Generosity Breeds Happiness

In a nutshell, MEF is in the business of spreading happiness. How? By helping at-risk kids rise above challenging circumstances and acquire habits and attitudes that lead to lasting success.

Those habits range from the academic (working to excel in math even when you think it’s boring) to the virtuous (serving your neighbor when no one is watching, or telling the truth when doing so is uncomfortable). Such habits build character, one act at a time. As one deeply experienced staff member memorably wrote, “Our challenge is to make kids understand that character education is not just some silly class. This stuff will make you happy.”

Such is the work that goes on all year long at the Midtown Center for boys and Metro Achievement Center for girls.

But the happiness spreads to our donors, too. That’s because, according to author Elizabeth Svoboda, human beings are hard-wired to be generous. She cites brain science showing that altruism causes a part of the midbrain to light up—the part related to pleasure.

Our students also learn about generosity at Midtown and Metro. When you come from a neighborhood deemed “disadvantaged,” it is a fresh and powerful message.

We thank the generous individuals and businesses whose names appear in the following pages, in the hope that they have experienced the genuine happiness that comes from giving.

Executive Director
MEF is blessed with countless friends and donors who have sustained

“MEF provides kids with a friend and a coach who’s asking: Where do you want to go? How do you think you’re going to get there? And what can we do to help you get there?”

Charles W. Mulaney, Jr. - Partner, Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom

“Education is the core of what they do. But it’s really so much more. MEF provides a well-rounded, safe and loving environment that helps all the kids increase their probability of success.”

Kristi Ross - Co-CEO and President, tastytrade
“Even after four years of leading volunteers and Midtown students in the Summer Law Apprenticeship, I am still amazed by the creativity and brilliance of the students. That being said, I think the biggest impact is upon the hearts of the volunteers. In the end, the students teach us the greatest lessons about virtue, life, and character. Midtown has a very special way of bringing the best out of students and volunteers alike.”

Michael Gray – Director & Senior Counsel—Enterprise Brand Risk, Discover Financial Services

“I’ve witnessed firsthand the incredible impact of MEF’s work in our communities. The organization truly delivers on its mission.”

A Summary of MEF Programs

Walgreens One-on-One Program  (4th to 6th grade)
Exceptional individuals serve as volunteer tutors/mentors for students. In weekly sessions, they help students with homework, present them with positive role models, and develop in them the study habits associated with high achievers.

Midtown/Metro Achievement Program  (7th & 8th grade)
Math, science and English courses prepare students to enter college preparatory high schools and ultimately, college. Character development helps students begin to form a decision framework and vision for their future.

College Orientation Program  (9th to 12th grade)
College, career and social readiness are emphasized in this program, which offers ACT prep, rigorous academics, enriching character classes, and help with college and scholarship applications. Students also engage in extracurricular offerings such as apprenticeships, community service projects and cultural and college field trips.

The Parenting Program
Seminars, support groups and individual counseling support parents in their important role as the primary educators of their own children.
