Our clients are experts in their own professions, but they rely on The Washington Insurance Consulting Group to be their insurance experts.

The WICG specializes in developing creative solutions for both individuals and groups. Our expertise in navigating changing benefits delivery systems, as well as our knowledge of the underwriting process, claims management and effective plan design, enables our clients to benefit from strategically planning benefits. We sit down with our clients to ensure they understand the advantages of each option.

“Thank you for confirming that our existing medical insurance is the best plan for our company.”

integrity

We represent the interests of our clients. Our consultants are silent partners committed to the success of your business.

Because we work with multiple providers, The WICG focuses on finding the rates and plans to meet the needs of our clients. We find the most effective solutions to meet your unique needs without sacrificing integrity, quality or service. In fact, our consultants might just confirm your current benefits package is the best fit for your company.

The Washington Insurance Consulting Group provides peace of mind, ensuring the future of your business remains secure as you work hard to grow it.

Businesses require asset protection in case of unanticipated events and losses. Whether a well-established company or an entrepreneur launching a new firm, rest assured that our consultants will support your changing business objectives through each phase of transition and growth. Protect your business and employees through The WICG’s comprehensive benefits plans and innovative financial management.

“No other broker took the time to explain the details the way you did. Now, I can make an informed business decision.”
