Former subway spokesman Jared Fogle who was most well known for losing weight after eating solely sandwiches from Subway, was sentenced to 15 1/2 in prison on Thursday for pleading guilty to child pornography and sex charges according to the Indianapolis Star. Fogle's attorney's asked for him to receive five years in prison, arguing that he had lost everything, but the judge would not budge.

Dr. John Bradford, a forensic psychiatrist, testified for the defense on Jared Fogle's behalf stating that he had an alcohol problem and compulsive eating disorder that as a result made him become "hypersexual" after he lost weight.

Fogle even spent over 12K for sex workers.

After hearing the sentence Fogle burst into tears, saying that his wife and his children will never get over this. To which the judge replied "You gave your wife $7 million, she'll be okay."

Fogle agreed on Thursday to avoid pornography, get sexual disorder treatment, and will be registered as a sex offender. U.S. District Judge Tanya Walton Pratt also sentenced him to a lifetime of supervision.
