

I ship the majority of my Art through The United States post office. If you wish your item to be shipped through a different carrier please notify me before you purchase. You will be responsible for the difference in shipping costs. I do my best to pack each item securely, and add insurance to each item. I do NOT charge for the packing,packaging or my time in getting items to the post. I try and charge what the post office charges. This is not easy and I ask for your understanding.
