

Benediction for August 6, 2017

Ecclesia, we leave today
playing in God's holy symphony.

God the Father is our faithful maestro,
Conducting us to live and serve in love
Through the life and works of Christ.

God's hand, in the Holy Spirit,
waves consistently and gracefully,
And we watch closely
In order to play our next note
in tune and in time.

We are one orchestra —
not one of us more important than the other,
Not one of us disposable.

May we not seek to play louder than our neighbor,
But only as loud as we must
To play our part.

May we not fret about our whole piece,
But trust each note at a time
Knowing God is always with us and leading us.
