Summary of the Visit

(authored by Andrea Turner)

We were met by Sally Moore, owner, in the front entry where we discussed several glass pieces for sale on display. The pieces were blown, mosaic and fused glass. The studio sells glass art created by their staff and several other glass artists. Then we were shown into the hot glass studio where we met Michael Moore; her husband, Patrick Moore; her son, and their studio assistant, Michael. Our demonstration was of a rondel that was twirled to a floral shape. Patrick was the main blower, assisted by Michael and Sally narrated. It was fascinating to watch! Then we walked to another building on the property that had several gallery rooms. Sally, Michael and Patrick Moore all had pieces for sale.

Barbara Partridge, Cheryl Widen, Joanne Crull and Andrea Turner stayed for a class with Patrick and Michael where they were able to participate in the creation of a hot glass piece. They all bought their pieces! After that, Joanne and Andrea stayed for another class and made a second piece.
