

Employment Application

Share Good Foods is dedicated to creating the highest quality food products for coffee houses, tea shops, book stores, brew pubs, cafeterias, and local food stores. Our products are hand crafted each day by artisan teammates and distributed through various outlets along the Front Range of Colorado and beyond. We are looking for team members who share our values of dreaming big, having fun, and working hard to create exceptional food products that people love to share with each other to consciously create community.

We desire to treat every applicant in a fair, honest, and trusting manner. This application requests and contains information that is confidential and so will not be used, released, or reviewed by any person outside Share Good Foods. To provide the safest environment for all those involved, criminal background and driving record reports may be checked. Share Good Foods hires employees without regard to race, color, ethnicity, gender, age, or background.

Share Good Foods was born in a coffee house in 2010 in response to a languishing lunchtime fare. The morning coffee business was brisk but as lunch approached customers vanished and fast food bags appeared; yet, there were baked goods, sandwiches, salads, and grab-and-go items available for purchase.

We wondered what was the problem? Well, we discovered our guests wanted a better selection of food items that were of higher quality than our current vendors could deliver.

Were there other vendors we could turn to? No. Should we become more like a café and make everything from scratch and less like a coffee house? No. Should we give up on selling food items all together? No. Should we close earlier and bag the idea of building a stronger community through our coffee house? No. Could we do better? Yes!

We decided to meet to the challenge by creating our own quality fresh food items that people would enjoy sharing with one another. We knew we could give our customers great food prepared fresh daily and merchandised for them to see in in an appealing manner while keeping our coffee shop mentality of delivering hand crafted goodness in 5 minutes or less. We also felt delivering cold sandwiches from a display case sounded a lot like buying food from a vending machine so we committed to grill every sandwich on a Panini grill to unleash the warmth of the sandwich we had made from scratch.

Our guest's loved what we had created. They began to stay for lunch and started to invite friends to join them for some great coffee and food at the coffee house. We won them over with our version of goodness made every day from scratch. It actually wasn't that hard. Who doesn't like sharing a good meal with someone special while catching up on life.

From these humble beginnings Share Good Food was birthed and now continues to provide various foods items through local outlets. Our commitment is to create high quality food from scratch daily for the simple enjoyment of a meal or snack in a community setting.
