ACTIVE SHOOTER TRAINING RESOURCES

NJOHSP offers a range of programs in active shooter preparedness as listed below:

Active Shooter Response Training

This one-hour training is offered to the public and private sector to enhance their understanding of the threat of an active shooter. The training covers individual response, police response, and preparation for the aftermath.

Target audience: Private and public sector security managers and personnel.

Active Shooter Response Training For Houses of Worship

This one-hour training offers religious facilities an awareness of the concepts used in creating a security mind set and how to develop effective detection, mitigation, and response tactics.

Target audience: Religious leaders, security, ushers, volunteers, and staff.

Active Shooter Workshop

This one-day workshop is designed to provide participants with the tools needed to develop Active Shooter Plans for their businesses and facilities.

Target audience: Public and private sector business and security managers, security personnel, and law enforcement officers.

Security and Vigilance for Everyone (S.A.V.E.)

This one-day training program fills the gap in the patron screening process at “soft targets” and provides security personnel with a behavior assessment technique to counter these threats and enhance security measures in the layered defense concept.

Target audience: Security managers and personnel.

Pro-Active Terrorist Recognition and Interdiction Operations and Tactics (P.A.T.R.I.O.T.)

This two-day training is to enhance the capabilities of law enforcement officers responsible for protecting specific areas of infrastructure by providing behavior assessment screening training.

Target audience: Law enforcement, security professionals, and front line employees.
