Experience

“Eureka!” This delicate coffee is the ray of inspiration in the stillness. Once you palate the discovery of these sweet fruit notes, you may, be struck with feeling a bit like Archimedes when he discovered the true difference between ordinary silver and precious gold.

When you are missing Winter, brew this jam and wait for it to cool down until it almost tastes like a warmed eggnog or horchata. This pairs well with some cozy socks and a fire.

This coffee is for those who like the raw and authentic things of life; leather bound journals, hiking above the pine filled tree line, and using your own creativity to experience new adventures.

Talk about a one of a kind experience! Every sip will take you deeper into a feeling of comfort and adventure almost like you’re sitting in first class on a quick domestic flight to your favorite city.

This is just depressing, but a healthy depression! Kind of like the one that really turns out to be more of a rest and rejuvenation of which you might need to make sure you have more of. But seriously, this is the best decaf you’ve ever had, one that doesn’t quite taste like it.
