This year’s fair was again a profitable, yet enjoyable experience for all who participated. With the help of nearly 50 volunteers, the fairgoers got a good opportunity to meet some of New York State’s beekeepers, and to sample and purchase honey from 8 different regions of the state. Total income from the 12-day period was $20,748. The suppliers of product made $11,409 and ESHPA took in $9,339 of the income. Congratulations go to Bill Crowell’s crew for the most money made in a single day of $2,946 on Saturday, September 1st.

We were honored by a 4-day visit from American Honey Princess, Danielle Dale, at the ESHPA booth at the NYS Fair. Danielle was busy explaining the workings of the observation hive, and pointing out the benefits of honey to potential buyers of pure New York honey. While at the honey display, she had the opportunity to meet Commissioner of Ag & Mkts, Darryl Aubertine. She visited local beekeeper, Don Streib, and toured his apiary and honey house. Thanks to the Girl Scouts of Onondaga County for hosting Danielle and providing a home away from home. Although Danielle’s reign ends at the next annual American Beekeeping Federation event in Hershey, PA this January, she has enjoyed visiting many states, including New York.

Thank you to the suppliers of honey and beeswax. Howland Apiaries was the first to sell out of their stock including the popular buckwheat and apple blossom honey. People came from near and far to find some of Bill Crowell’s bamboo honey. Some were lucky enough to buy some “Best of Show” honey awarded to Pat Bono this year. Mike Griggs provided some hard to come by basswood honey, which is enjoyed for its unique flavor. The creamed honey from Lloyd Spear is always a sampling favorite and top seller at the fair this year. Michael Johnston and Hans Junga joined the “regulars” with their wildflower honey. The crowd was fighting amongst themselves for the cut-comb honey that Rob Sorensen tried to make available throughout the week. Even though most people don’t know what to do with it, Jonathan Ryan’s beeswax was prized by those who do appreciate it.

Special thanks go to all who volunteer for taking the time and making the trip to Syracuse to help out at the honey booth, especially for those coming in more than once. Earl Villecco, Will Crowell, Rob Sorensen, and Leslie Berry helped tremendously with delivering honey, setting up and taking down the display, and filling in the schedule on the open days. The bees for the gazebo and observation hive were generously donated by David Howland and Rob Sorensen. Pat Bono did the planning of Danielle Dale’s visit to the fair. John Ferguson is always a big help when it comes to rounding up volunteers from his Mid-York club.

Hopefully, there will be continued interest in participating in next year’s fair. There’s always room for more volunteers, and more varieties of honey. Anyone from the Syracuse area would have an excellent opportunity to sell their local honey. We thank Dr. Calderone for judging the honey competition. The entries were up this year: and it would be great to keep up the momentum towards a more impressive show.
The President’s Corner

I always admired New York City Mayor, Ed Koch. As did Ed, I wonder as ESHPA President, “How’m I doin’?” I think not so well. I envisioned positive achievements such as an expanded ESHPA membership, showcasing the many local beekeeping clubs and associations within the state, and fostering a positive synergy among all players on the State beekeeping stage. Au contraire! So far it’s been a consternating struggle to achieve the goals I have in mind.

The “By-Laws” committee, consisting of Mark Berninghausen, Amy Wakefield and me, met to review and amend the ESHPA By-Laws, which are included in this newsletter on pages 7-11. Current wording proposed to be changed is published with double strikethrough, and proposed amendments are published in highlighted gray italics. For instance, This is how it is currently written and this is the proposed amendment.

One thing that jumped out at the committee was the definition of voting rights. The by-laws allow for spousal memberships for the price of a single membership fee. But if both members of the spousal membership want to vote in corporation matters then both members of the couple must pay membership dues. The by-laws are very clear: Spouses of members must take out a separate membership if they wish to vote. Please keep this in mind when you register for the fall meeting.

Also under voting rights is the passage, A paid up membership is entitled to one vote. There is no mention of weighted votes, nor is preference given to years a member has been keeping bees, how many hives one keeps, or how long one can keep their smoker lit. One membership, one vote.

What I most wanted to highlight from our by-laws, from ARTICLE II – PURPOSES is the passage, To form an association for mutual benefit of New York State honey producers. I grapple with that passage. It is a goal of the Association to grow membership and it has been noted that the name Empire State Honey Producers Association is intimidating to smaller beekeepers. Some have suggested a different name for the Association. I have always thought if you harvest honey you are a honey producer. We all know it’s the bees that produce the honey! Perhaps The Empire State Honey People Association? As an association I wonder, How’re We doin’?

A final note from the by-laws review, which will be saved for a later day; the manner in which the State is apportioned should be reviewed/revised at some time in the future.

So, let’s look forward to an exciting fall meeting! We are fortunate to piggyback on the fall meeting of the Russian Bee Breeders and will be treated to two of their prominent members; Dr. Thomas Rinderer and Steven Coy. Rounding out the speaker lineup will be Michael Bush, who has become quite a celebrity in Internet beekeeping.

Friday evening will feature our annual banquet with all the festivities, including the silent and live auction. Donations for the auctions will be gladly accepted!

The keynote presentation at the banquet will be given by Michael Bush and will highlight the Discoveries of blind beekeeper, François Huber who was only fifteen years old when he began to suffer from a disease which gradually resulted in total blindness; but, with the aid of his wife, Marie Aimée Lullin, and of his servant, François Burnens, he was able to carry out investigations that laid the foundations of a scientific knowledge of the life history of the honey bee.

Saturday morning will feature highlights of the Bee Wellness Workshops offered concurrently with the rest of the meeting. Lunch will be on your own, after which we will discuss the honey standard of identity and other challenging issues as ESHPA moves positively into the future.

I look forward to seeing everyone in November!
President, Aaron Morris, called the meeting to order. Minutes of the Spring Board Meeting, Officer and Director List, and Treasurer’s Report were presented by Hans Junga.

Officers and Directors also in attendance were: Mark Berninghausen, Pat Bono, Amy Wakefield, and Bill Roome. Peter Borst provided a signed proxy letter to Aaron Morris; Greg Kalicin sent email proxy via Bill Roome. Members: Laurence and Daniel Winter, Ed and Judy Doan, Ted Elk, and John Tyo attended the meeting.

Bill Roome made the first motion to propose the inclusion of member(s) representing ESHPA as an organization to the Apiary Advisory Committee. It was seconded by Pat Bono, and was unanimously carried. It is hoped that the opinions of a greater number of beekeepers statewide may be expressed in future meetings.

The second motion, made by Amy Wakefield, was to have a letter written by the president of ESHPA and endorsed with board member signatures to present to the Commissioner of Agriculture and Markets to approve membership with the AIAC. It was seconded by Pat Bono, and was unanimously carried.

The third motion was made by Amy Wakefield to hold an informational session at the ESHPA fall meeting concerning the Honey Standard of Identity. It was seconded by Bill Roome and was unanimously passed. Some additional time for education and discussion will be helpful in determining the support of a revised honey standard for New York State.

The fourth motion was made by Bill Roome to allocate a $150 fund for the Honey Princess, who will be appearing at the New York State Fair. The motion was seconded by Pat Bono, who stated that expenses will be minimal as food, housing and transportation costs will be provided by the Girl Scouts of America. The motion was unanimously carried.

Bill Roome made the fifth motion to accept the Spring Board Meeting minutes. The motion was seconded by Mark Berninghausen and was unanimously carried.

The sixth motion was made by Bill Roome to earmark proceeds from the “I Love NY Honey” merchandise to be counted towards matching funds for the Bee Wellness Workshops. The motion was seconded by Mark Berninghausen and was unanimously passed.

Pat Bono gave a brief report on the responses of participants in the Bee Wellness Workshops. The program received good to excellent reviews from the students, who will be passing on the knowledge they acquired to their local clubs in the coming months.

A bylaw review committee is scheduled to meet in August. Aaron Morris, Mark Berninghausen, and Amy Wakefield will make recommendations for clarifying and updating the bylaws to suit ESHPA’s current needs. One item that will be discussed will be the group’s liability insurance coverage, and the possible addition of a policy written to insure officers and directors of the organization.

A nominating committee has been formed to fill Board of Director vacancies. Aaron Morris, Peter Borst, and Mark Berninghausen will be considering directors from the West and Long Island regions, as well as the Director at Large position.

The seventh motion to adjourn at 11:00 a.m. was made by Bill Roome, seconded by Mark Berninghausen, and was unanimously passed.

Respectfully submitted,
Hans Junga
Secretary/Treasurer

President, Aaron Morris, called the meeting to order. Minutes of the Spring Board Meeting and Treasurer’s Report were presented by Hans Junga. Officers and Directors also in attendance were: Mark Berninghausen, Pat Bono, Amy Wakefield, and Bill Roome. The roll call list is included at the end of the meeting minutes.

The first motion to accept the Spring Board Meeting minutes was made by Bill Roome. It was seconded by Ted Elk and was unanimously passed.

The second motion to accept the Treasurer’s Report was made by Rob Sorensen, and was seconded by Sam Hall. The motion passed by majority vote of 30 yes, 2 no, and 2 abstained. The report included a summary of Bee Wellness Workshop income and expenses. The annual report required by the USDA for the grant will be available at the fall meeting.

An education and discussion session will be added to the fall meeting schedule. The Honey Standard of Identity will be the topic and all members with opinions on the subject are encouraged to participate.

The third motion was made by Ted Elk to allocate up to $500 to fund expenses for the Honey Princess New York State Fair appearance. The motion was seconded by Bill Roome and was passed by majority vote of 32 yes, 1 no, and 1 abstained. This fund is to be separate from the state fair director’s stipend.

Pat Bono reported that after the first two of three Bee Wellness Workshops, the program received good to excellent reviews from the students. There were 24 participants in Canandaigua and 17 participants in Pocantico Hills. The next workshop will be held in Ballston Spa. The Saturday schedule of the ESHPA fall meeting will include classes from the workshop on microscopy and identification of foul brood.

Mark Berninghausen and Pat Bono have been working on “I Love NY Honey” promotional material. T-shirts, banners and bumper stickers are now available for purchase. A combined promotion with the National Honey Board and Rochester Baseball is also in the planning stages.

Sam Hall made the fourth motion to approve ESHPA’s membership with NOFA (Northeast Organic Farming Association of New York). The motion was seconded by Rob Sorensen and was approved by majority vote of 17 yes, 15 no, and 2 abstained. Although many ESHPA members do not practice organic beekeeping, NOFA policies may be of interest to those willing to try new methods.

Memberships with other agricultural organizations that would benefit ESHPA are the Vegetable Growers Association, Apple Producers, and Maple Producers.

The fifth motion, made by Ted Elk, was to join membership of the Ontario Beekeepers of Canada. It was seconded by Sam Hall, and was unanimously carried.

Discussions continue on ESHPA involvement in the future reinstatement of the Apiary Inspection Program. Aaron Morris and Mark Berninghausen are on the original committee to seek a proactive approach to providing recommendations for a new program. Michael Johnston, Chuck Kutik, and Jonathan Ryan were named to be included in a new committee. Although inspections are presently conducted on a much smaller scale, Chuck Kutik commends the work done by Paul Cappy with identification and control measures taken against Nosema disease.

Fall meeting plans are continuing to go well. Presentations will include a Russian Bee Breeder Program, Bee Wellness Workshop highlights, and added hours devoted to a Honey Standard of Identity session on Saturday. More participation by vendors is also expected.

Pat Bono suggested a smaller, monthly version of a newsletter to be sent out to members with current events, updates on progress of committees, etc.

There was a discussion on the severe bee losses suffered by western NY beekeepers from army worm pesticide spraying. It was stated that the Department of Environmental Conservation should be more involved in controlling the use of new chemicals that are having such a serious impact on honey bees. Sprayers of these pesticides should be required to keep records of the pesticides they are using and when they are scheduled to be applied. Jim Doan claimed extensive damage done to many of his colonies.

The seventh motion to adjourn at 12:30 p.m. was made by Mark Berninghausen, seconded by Bill Ferris, and was unanimously passed.

The Empire State Honey Producers was represented at Senator Gillibrand’s NY Farm Day in the Russell Senate Office Building in September. This was a great way to get recognition for NYS honey. This well attended reception featured creamed honey from Lloyd Spear, Japanese knotweed honey from Bill Crowell and honey comb from Seaway Trail Honey. Other agricultural products available at the event for tasting were apple, maple and dairy.

Both Senator Chuck Schumer and Senator Kirsten Gillibrand stopped at the ESHPA table to say hi.

If you would like to participate in next year’s tasting, by staffing the table, sending a honey recipe or cooking a dessert, or even donating honey, please contact: Pat@eshpa.org

This spring and summer 3 workshops were held at different locations in New York State to teach beekeepers by offering intensive 2 day, skills oriented, hands on workshops. These were part of a 3 year Train the Trainer program to show beekeepers techniques in diagnosing, treating, and preventing honey bee diseases and for them to return to their clubs and teach other beekeepers. These classes primarily targeted New York beekeepers with less than 10 years' experience and women beekeepers.

Thirteen established, local beekeeper clubs were represented during these workshops, as well as beekeepers from Connecticut and Ohio, for a total of 60 participants. Motivation was very high and survey results show a rating of the workshops as very good to excellent with improved skills in disease recognition and teaching by the participants.

The first, inaugural workshop was held in Canandaigua during a beautiful spring weekend. We set up the microscopes at the Ontario County CCE and carpooled to Rich Riedman’s apiary.

Our workshop at historic Stone Barns presented a few challenges: sweltering heat and threat of rain- but beekeepers know how to sweat! Security was tight for one apiary visit in preparation for First Lady Michelle Obama’s visit to Stone Barns for an event, but we were able to complete our inspections at the Stone Barns beeyard (managed by Dan Carr) and return to the Pocantico Hills Fire Hall before her event started.

At Ballston Spa tents were set up over the beehives at Aaron Morris’ beeyard in case the rolling thunderstorms interfered with our field work, but we were lucky- the downpour started after we got into our cars to return to the Saratoga County CCE.

The workshops were also a great group effort! We were very fortunate to have some of the best instructors in the bee world: Diana Sammataro, Al Avitabile, Larry Connor, Doug McRory, the Ontario Tech Transfer Team (Melanie Kempers, Les Eccles, Devan Rawn, Brian Lacey), and Christina Wahl.

Several beekeeping clubs have already implemented their training of beekeepers in their region of New York: Catskill Mountain, Long Island, Southern Tier, Ontario Finger Lakes, Southern Adirondacks, Western NY Honey Producers.

Many clubs will also hold their workshops this fall and winter, as part of their monthly meetings and beginner beekeeper programs. An educational website was established to provide required material to prepare the participants for the lab and field work. NYBeeWellness.com is now available to all beekeepers (particularly in New York) as a guide to identifying honey bee disease. Please check the OVERVIEW page for an outline and links to:

- The Field Guide to Honey Bees and Their Maladies (PDF)
- Ontario Tech Transfer power points and pdf's
- Bees at eXtension.org
- Lab testing resources
- Catskill Mountain Beekeepers Youtube on sugar dusting for mites
- Ontario Finger Lakes Beekeepers power point on Bee Disease
- Jamie Ellis videos on bee diseases

While this was the first year of the 3 year project, some see this program as a beginning to a permanent outreach training program for New York State beekeepers.

On November 17, there will be a Saturday morning workshop during the ESHPA annual meeting, featuring some of the best of the workshop: Microscopy, frame diagnosis (What’s Wrong with this Frame?), and American Foul Brood identification.

I wish to thank the Western New York Honey Producers Association for their generous donation of $200 towards the continuation of the NY Bee Wellness Workshops, as well as the members of ESHPA for providing matching funds.

These workshops are made possible through funding from the USDA NIFA Beginning Farmers and Ranchers Development Program, Grant # 2011-494400-30631, and with matching funds from the Empire State Honey Producers Association.

Ideas and suggestions are always welcome. Please contact Pat@eshpa.org
