“I realized that there were other people who are thinking about Haiti and want to help us. We thank you with all our hearts.”

— UniFA student after P4H’s inaugural Social Determinants of Health course.

ADVANCING NURSING

The nursing protocols implemented over the last few months have been so well-received that we have begun begun a second round of protocol development. P4H is also exploring other tools to improve the quality of nursing care in Haitian hospitals.

HARVARD CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION

Thanks to P4H board member Dr. Sanjiv Chopra, several physicians from our Haitian partners will be able to attend this year’s Harvard Continuing Medical Education conferences free of charge.

RESIDENCY LECTURES

The Continuing Medical Education Committee is excited to add Shele Poetker to the team. The committee is developing a series of core lectures for St. Marc’s Family Medicine Residency education project. The lectures are an extension of our online modules for current Haitian physicians. The first five modules will be available this fall.

SUMMER INTERNS

A big thank you to our summer interns! Because of them, P4H has increased its capacity and created opportunities for bidirectional learning stateside. Thank you interns!

SOCIAL DETERMINANTS OF HEALTH COURSE
This spring, P4H sent Dr. Lopa Basu and Dr. Ruben Frescas to the Universite de le Fondation Aristide. The doctors provided medical students with an introduction to public health and the social determinants of health.

Drs. Basu and Frescas’ two-week course was incredibly well-received by both students and the University. As one student stated, ‘This conference allowed us to have a better understanding of aspects concerning medicine…. [S]uch conferences will be useful to us during our entire lives as future physicians.”
