

Lead iOS Developer

Lucy is an artificial intelligence assistant that replaces email. We're creating Lucy to completely transform the experience in which people communicate and gather information. We're looking for a Lead iOS Developer to build and lead our mobile development from the ground up.

You'll be joining a passionate team of 10 building a high impact solution to a significant problem that frustrates millions of people each day. Our team consists of successful serial entrepreneurs from diverse backgrounds such as NASA, Warby Parker, Yahoo, Tumblr, academia, etc... We recently oversubscribed in a $1.5M pre-seed round from awesome Angels and VC's.

Lucy was incubated at Conscious Equity Ventures, a platform to start and build world changing conscious companies.

Why We'll Love You

- 4+ years building iOS applications from scratch
- You are comfortable handling plenty of responsibility and can see a project to completion with minimal help and intervention
- You are itching to be part of an early team building something extraordinary
- A loving, kind, purpose driven individual with an entrepreneurial spirit
- Track record and references from great people
- Collaborate well with product management, designers and developers
- Not afraid to change your opinion in the face of new information or understanding of the product goals—you have strong beliefs, but you're open-minded

Compensation

$120K - $150K Salary + Equity DOE

Full Time

New York based

To apply, please email team@hellolucy.io