Raw materials. We love them.

We're sure you can see we like nothing more than stripping back the layers and showing the bare components of what we do. Time has passed since we first began, if you take a glance over towards the back of the store we have a Probat coffee roaster. We love it, and with this German feat of engineering we are now breaking down the barriers of coffee further and developing a new element of home grown coffee culture. We're taking our raw materials and making them into things to share with you. Thanks to some wonderful help by some industry leaders in the UK we've now begun a new exciting journey.
