FROM SUSTAINABILITY TO CLIMATE JUSTICE MAY 20-25

It's easy to become discouraged or overwhelmed by the climate crisis. We feel better when we take small steps toward sustainability, like recycling and shrinking our personal carbon footprint, but the scale of the global challenge is vast.

Responding to the comprehensiveness of climate justice issues, this conference is designed to broaden your understanding of:

- the science of climate change and its worldwide impact
- opportunities for addressing climate justice - personally, locally and globally
- the importance of self-care in the work of climate justice

This conference at The Mountain Retreat & Learning Center in Highlands includes reflections, presentations, workshops and concerts. For more information, or to register, go HERE.
