

“Common Cup” of Wine

In honor of Steve’s Greek heritage, they want to commemorate the tradition of sharing a cup of wine (and they wanted an excuse to have a drink). As I pour wine into the single “common cup” the bride and groom will each take three sips of it. The wine symbolizes life, and the sharing of sips of it is symbolic of how the couple will share in life together.

(As we drink)

May whatever bitterness it contains be less bitter because you share it together. May all the sweetness that it holds for you be the sweeter because you taste it together.
