Woodcarving is a healthy activity

Over the 37 years we have been teaching carving techniques we have had the pleasure to see many people develop a skill for self-expression. Many have found a relaxing activity that can fill hours of meaningful work. Woodcarving engages both the mind and the body. Relatives and friends of our carving students receive great joy in the carvings our students produce.

Please plan to spend an enjoyable time in rural Wisconsin, carving with a wonderful group of people in a pleasant supportive atmosphere. We do our best to accommodate your individual need.

Phillip Odden and Else Bigton
