

GiveBack: North Africa

Café/Business Intern and Co-op/homeschool teacher

North Africa

Short Description of Role:

We are looking for teachable and flexible individuals who have a love for teaching children. This position would include teaching a subject or subjects at our home-school co-op. Previous teaching experience and/or teaching degree is recommended but not necessary.

Due to the nature of the internship, situations may arise where you will be asked to assist in other areas of need. We ask that you be flexible and be willing to serve where needed.

Responsibilities:

You will need to go thru the co-op's application process as well. Although curriculum will be provided, creativity and flexibility is welcomed in the classroom. You will be expected to work in a team environment, participate in team meetings, and build relationships as opportunities arises. You will also help out at our cafe in food preparation and customer service. In total these commitments would equal 30-35 hours/week. The opportunity to study the local Arabic dialect, or French if preferred, is provided. We have secured local tutors experienced in teaching language. Though not required, language study will give you a better opportunity to communicate while in country.

Qualifications:

- Interest in overseas living and willingness to work in a cafe
- Experience in teaching children (preferred but not mandatory)

Compensation:

The intern would be required to raise funds for this position. Here's what's to expect:

The intern would be required to raise funds for this position. Here's what to expect:

1. Airfare (approx. $1000-$2000)
2. Personal insurance (required) – price varies
3. In-country costs: 10 month internship - $9,400. Please inquire if interested in 2-year term.

4. Visa Trip: Required every 4 months (must take 2 for year-long intern).
Approx $500 each.

You will live in our intern housing where you will be responsible for your own cooking and cleaning. Most modern conveniences are available. The city is located between the desert and the sea. It is a coastal city. There are many interesting day trips or weekend excursions from the capital. There is an international airport with connections to many major European cities.

Start Date:

Ongoing, 10 months (Sept-June) to two years