Homeschool Teacher

Bangkok metropolitan area, Thailand

Short Description of Role:

This is an exciting ministry opportunity to teach two lower elementary school children (pre-school and first grade) and be a part of a team which facilitates the planting of healthy Thai churches.

Responsibilities:

The teacher's main responsibility would be teaching a first grader, and as time allows, teaching pre-school part time to a 4 year old. The first grader has been diagnosed with dyslexia so the teacher must be willing to facilitate the type of learning needed for the first grader's special needs. If the teacher feels so inclined, they would have unique opportunities to plug into other ministries as well. For example they could be a part of and minister to a small but growing international fellowship of expatriates living in the area as well as share the Good News of Jesus with Thai neighbors.

Qualifications:

- Bachelors degree in early childhood education
- Some teaching experience
- Training on teaching a child with dyslexia and phonology problems (if not already acquired, willing to get this)

Compensation:

The Envision intern will need to raise all of their own support.

Start Date:

August 2016, 1-2 years
