A look into UConn’s housing revenue

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than in 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than in 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than in 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than in 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than in 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.

The University of Connecticut made $3,812,740 more from housing in the 2019 fiscal year than in 2018, according to the UConn Residential Life budget obtained by a Freedom of Information Request.

UConn made $95,328,006 for the 2018 fiscal year, while it made $99,140,746 in the 2019 fiscal year.

The total net increase between expenses and revenues in 2019 was $5,727,860. This number is calculated by subtracting Residential Life’s expenses from their revenues.

Pamela Schipani, executive director of Residential Life, said costs increase due to personnel and benefit changes. These rate changes are approved by the Board of Trustees, Schipani said.

“Rate increases generally are based on changes in the fringe benefits rates and personnel costs for all staff. These are contractual,” Schipani said. “In addition, costs of goods and services go up each year and these changes are factored into rate increases.

Facilities and other indirect overhead expenses increased by more than $5.7 million from 2018 to 2019.

For the first time, the University of Connecticut’s Northeast and McMahon dining halls will be open until 11 a.m. throughout finals week, starting Monday.

The Undergraduate Student Government’s Academic Affairs Committee worked with UConn’s Dining Services to extend the hours, said Brady Harmon, USG’s chief of staff to the vice president.

“It began with, if the library is open 24 hours, why aren’t other crucial things on campus, such as dining halls, open later?” Academic Affairs Committee Chairperson Mano Chapatwala said.
Anna M. Snow Residence Hall

The south campus residence halls are named for the first female students to attend the University of Connecticut.

Editor-in-Chief

A LOOK AT UCONN’S HOUSING REVENUE FOR THE 2018 AND 2019 FISCAL YEARS

According to the UConn Residential Life office, UConn made $240.5 million in revenue in FY 2018, compared to $241.3 million in FY 2019.

The Daily Campus

The Buildings of Storrs: Anna M. Snow Residence Hall

Samuel Katz

Kamilla Harris

North Korea Message

Amid months of tense talks about nuclear weapons, North Korea said it will break out of the nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty, according to a statement by the country's Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Politeness Bike Advertisement

The advertisement features a young woman with a bike, dressed in a white dress and holding a bouquet of flowers.

University of Farmington

Amid allegations of illegal immigration, students have been arrested since January at a fake university set up in Farmington, Michigan by federal agents to study the immigration laws in the United States, according to CNN. Officers responded to reports of a possible fake school on Sunday night.

Los Angeles Police Ofﬁcer

An investigation was launched Wednesday after a Los Angeles police officer has been accused of making a video feeding a deceased woman's body to pigs.

The Daily Campus

Want to advertise in print or online? Contact the editor at advertising@dailycampus.com

The Daily Campus

FOR THE 2018 AND 2019 FISCAL YEARS

HOUSING

Demi Moore's 1970s ranch house

This was the third woman to attend the university, according to the book 'Red Brick in the Land of Steady Growth,' written by Louise W. Wilson and Louise Jane Brown, which was published in 1968.

Peloton Bike Advertisement

The advertisement features a young woman with a bike, dressed in a white dress and holding a bouquet of flowers.

University of Farmington

Amid allegations of illegal immigration, students have been arrested since January at a fake university set up in Farmington, Michigan by federal agents to study the immigration laws in the United States, according to CNN. Officers responded to reports of a possible fake school on Sunday night.

Los Angeles Police Ofﬁcer

An investigation was launched Wednesday after a Los Angeles police officer has been accused of making a video feeding a deceased woman's body to pigs.

The Daily Campus

Want to advertise in print or online? Contact the editor at advertising@dailycampus.com

The Daily Campus

FOR THE 2018 AND 2019 FISCAL YEARS

HOUSING
Police Blotter

Nov. 20
Anton Kaminisky, 23, of Monroe, Connecticut, was charged with failure to carry registration while operating a vehicle, illegal operation of a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol and failure to drive in the right hand lane. Officers responded to a report of a motor vehicle accident around King Hill Road and discovered one of the drivers, Kaminisky, under the influence of alcohol. He failed the standardized field sobriety test and was arrested. His bond was set at $500 and his court date was Dec. 4.

Nov. 20
Kyle Foulah, 23, of Ashford, Connecticut, and William Johnson, 30, of Rockville were each charged with sixth-degree larceny and criminal mischief. Men turned themselves in on an active arrest warrant stemming from an incident where they, along with another, stole $35 and $19.50 worth of items respectively at Gampel Pavilion in August. Their court dates were Dec. 4.

Nov. 21
Kyle Turn, 12, of Trumbull, Connecticut, was charged with third-degree criminal mischief. Police responded to a report of vandalism at a residence and found damages to a monitor. He was placed under arrest and later released.

Nov. 21
Devante Mitchell, 21, of Willimantic, Connecticut, was charged with sixth-degree larceny and conspiracy. He was the third individual who accompanied the other two to Gampel Pavilion on November 14. His court date was Dec. 2.

No. 23
Ankur Chadha, 34, of Monroe, Connecticut, was charged with failure to respond to an infraction.Officers conducted a check on a person outside Ted’s Bar who was reportedly yelling in the parking lot. They discovered the individual, Chadha, had an unserved PRAWN warrant for his arrest, which was issued for failure to respond to an infraction at Rockville Superior Court stemming from an incident when he created a public disturbance. His bond was set at $1,000, and his court date was Dec. 4.

Nov. 27 and Nov. 28
Zhefeng Cao, 21, of Sherry, Connecticut, was originally charged with disorderly conduct, third-degree assault, and second-degree strangulation/violent intimidation. Officers responded to reports of a师生 at the Pearl Harbor housing complex and observed Cao, who was accompanying a female,捺 her under arrest. His bond was set at $50,000, and his court date was Nov. 29.

MILITARY: Sailor shoots 3 at Pearl Harbor, takes own life

Traffic backs up at the main gate after a shooting at Pearl Harbor Naval shipyard, Wednesday, Dec. 4, 2019, near Pearl Harbor in Honolulu. (AP Photo/Caleb Jones)

HONOLULU (AP) — A U.S. sailor shot and wounded three civilian Department of Defense employees at the Pearl Harbor shipyard Wednesday before taking their own life, the military said.

Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam, one of the Navy’s largest installations, said the shooting began around 1:30 p.m. at Pearl Harbor Naval Shipyard. The military didn’t release a motive or any identifying information about the sailor who opened fire.

Two hospitals said they were treating a victim but didn’t have details on their conditions.

The base has responded follow- ing a lockdown.

The shipyard repairs, main- tains and modernizes the ships and submarines of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, which is headquartered at Pearl Harbor. The base is the home port for 10 destroyers and 1 submarine.

Hawaii Gov. David Ige said the White House has offered assistance from federal agen- cies and that the state is also ready to help if needed.

“I join in solidarity with the people of Hawaii as we express our heartfelt shock and sympa- thy and concern for those af- fected by this devastating tragedy,” Ige said in a statement.

The shipyard is across from the harbor from the Pearl Harbor National Memorial, which on Saturday will mark the 78th anniversary of the Japanese at- tack that propelled the U.S. into World War II. More than 2,300 Americans died in the attack on Dec. 7, 1941.

Do you or a friend have anxiety, depression, addiction...?? We are here to help

PPI PROGRAMS, INC.
Creating Solutions Without Compromise

Storrs (860) 420-2450
Storrs Commons, 1244 Storrs Road 2nd floor, across from E.O. Smith
Allimantic (860) 450-0151
Danielson (860) 779-5852
www.perceptionprograms.com

Traffic backs up at the main gate after a shooting at Pearl Harbor Naval shipyard, Wednesday, Dec. 4, 2019, near Pearl Harbor in Honolulu. (AP Photo/Jae C. Hong)
Celebrating Racism: A Beautiful American Holiday

When I crossed Guatemala and entered Mexico for the first time, I was faced with the reality of a broken immigration system. Many children, like myself, have been left to travel through this broken system. However, open immigration activists that migration is a human right need to prove to both nativists and pro-immigration activists that this broken system needs a more open immigration policy. Restrictive immigration policies only make matters worse. This has confused many Americans, leading to the power of cartels to have even more control over the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have more control. This has led more migrants to come through the United States, I would have been cut off through a port of entry, away from dangerous cartels and under the protection of the U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

The U.S. does not need open borders, rather, it needs more immigration system. Restrictive immigration policies make the journey to the United States more dangerous than it has ever been. As noted earlier, Mexi- can cartels have targeted Central American immigrants who seek to cross the U.S. border. In areas of the U.S. Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have asserted control. This situation only becomes worse when the border patrol is left with no choice but to submit to the power of cartels to have even more control of the U.S. government. The cartels have even more control of the U.S. government. The cartels have more control over the U.S.-Mexico border. While there are many uncertainties in that journey, and it is painful, I have made it without my loved ones. The U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

When I crossed Guatemala and entered Mexico for the first time, I was faced with the reality of a broken immigration system. Many children, like myself, have been left to travel through this broken system. However, open immigration activists that migration is a human right need to prove to both nativists and pro-immigration activists that this broken system needs a more open immigration policy. Restrictive immigration policies only make matters worse. This has confused many Americans, leading to the power of cartels to have even more control over the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have more control. This has led more migrants to come through the United States, I would have been cut off through a port of entry, away from dangerous cartels and under the protection of the U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

The U.S. does not need open borders, rather, it needs more immigration system. Restrictive immigration policies make the journey to the United States more dangerous than it has ever been. As noted earlier, Mexican cartels have targeted Central American immigrants who seek to cross the U.S. border. In areas of the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have asserted control. This situation only becomes worse when the border patrol is left with no choice but to submit to the power of cartels to have even more control of the U.S. government. The cartels have more control over the U.S.-Mexico border. While there are many uncertainties in that journey, and it is painful, I have made it without my loved ones. The U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

When I crossed Guatemala and entered Mexico for the first time, I was faced with the reality of a broken immigration system. Many children, like myself, have been left to travel through this broken system. However, open immigration activists that migration is a human right need to prove to both nativists and pro-immigration activists that this broken system needs a more open immigration policy. Restrictive immigration policies only make matters worse. This has confused many Americans, leading to the power of cartels to have even more control over the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have more control. This has led more migrants to come through the United States, I would have been cut off through a port of entry, away from dangerous cartels and under the protection of the U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

The U.S. does not need open borders, rather, it needs more immigration system. Restrictive immigration policies make the journey to the United States more dangerous than it has ever been. As noted earlier, Mexican cartels have targeted Central American immigrants who seek to cross the U.S. border. In areas of the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have asserted control. This situation only becomes worse when the border patrol is left with no choice but to submit to the power of cartels to have even more control of the U.S. government. The cartels have more control over the U.S.-Mexico border. While there are many uncertainties in that journey, and it is painful, I have made it without my loved ones. The U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

When I crossed Guatemala and entered Mexico for the first time, I was faced with the reality of a broken immigration system. Many children, like myself, have been left to travel through this broken system. However, open immigration activists that migration is a human right need to prove to both nativists and pro-immigration activists that this broken system needs a more open immigration policy. Restrictive immigration policies only make matters worse. This has confused many Americans, leading to the power of cartels to have even more control over the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have more control. This has led more migrants to come through the United States, I would have been cut off through a port of entry, away from dangerous cartels and under the protection of the U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.

The U.S. does not need open borders, rather, it needs more immigration system. Restrictive immigration policies make the journey to the United States more dangerous than it has ever been. As noted earlier, Mexican cartels have targeted Central American immigrants who seek to cross the U.S. border. In areas of the U.S.-Mexico border that lack the presence of the state, cartels have asserted control. This situation only becomes worse when the border patrol is left with no choice but to submit to the power of cartels to have even more control of the U.S. government. The cartels have more control over the U.S.-Mexico border. While there are many uncertainties in that journey, and it is painful, I have made it without my loved ones. The U.S. government. Other children do not have the same luck.
Rebecca Maher
SPECIALIST WRITER

Those in the Honors community may be familiar with the Humanities, Arts, and Critical Community (HArCo) from living in Buckley or from receiving an obligatory “Honors Event” email that, each semester, provides Honors students with opportunities to get involved, as well as validation for those in the humanities who struggle with the STEM-centric coursework.

Miranda Garcia, a sophomore science major, joined HArCo her freshman year and has been a part of the group since then. “The focus of the group is humanities and arts,” Garcia said in an email. “I thought the mission of the group was interesting but I thought there needed to be a way for people who shared interests to come together and engage throughout the semester.” Garcia said in an email.

“I thought the mission of the group was interesting but I thought there needed to be a way for people who shared interests to come together and engage throughout the semester.”

While the recent edition of HArCo’s Zine hasn’t received as much attention from anyone in the Honors community, regardless of year or major, the zine is an incredibly fun read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.

“Next semester, we want to start putting calls out for submission early and set dates for finalizing the issue, so Honors students will have more time to create — especially if they want to stick to a theme — and have the opportunity to design their own pages how they want so that it is equally fun to read, and it’s clear from its members and the silliness of its content that it was equally fun to make. Kovlakas encourages students to get involved with HArCo, which will be meeting next semester on Tuesdays from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the Buckley Classroom, or to keep an eye out for submission deadlines for next semester.
Kicking off our list in the modern take on Charles Dick- en’s seminal tale, “A Christmas Carol.” While this classic remains one of the most enduring stories of the season, this par- ticular version stands out due to its reimagining of the comedic genius of the film’s star, Bill Murray. The film was followed by the much- loved Frank Capra, a greedy TV Executive, who is sent to hell by the ghost of three helps of these ghosts to find the true meaning of Christmas.

Let’s be honest, every kid of the 2000s fantasized about taking a ride on this legendary train, and what could be better than Tom Hanks belting out a song about everyone’s favorite holiday. The film, with the help of a fantastic score and the great roast bucket.

Probably one of the most successful holiday films, “Elf” is one of the few films that can make anyone, even a cute carrot, snuggle up to a hug from Buddy’s Buddies. Not only is it an easy watch, but the film takes place in New York City.

This iconic film has forever taught audiences that a kid can get anything they want if they put the most important part of the fun in waiting for them with the ones you love.

Probably the funniest movie of the holiday season, “Elf” can make anyone, even a cute carrot, snuggle up to a hug from Buddy’s Buddies. Not only is it an easy watch, but the film takes place in New York City.

Let’s be honest, every kid of the 2000s fantasized about taking a ride on this legendary train, and what could be better than Tom Hanks belting out a song about everyone’s favorite holiday. The film, with the help of a fantastic score and the great roast bucket.

Whether you are a fan of the original animated version, or the later Jon Lievts low-motion film, this film is an excellent example of why holiday movies must be a part of your Christ- mas traditions. Because, after all, what’s the point of the holiday season if you can’t have a good laugh with your family?

Whether you’re looking for a classic holiday film or something new, “Scrooged” is the perfect choice. With the help of three ghosts to find the true meaning of Christmas, it’s sure to be a hit with both kids and adults.

The Happy New Year

Ingredients

2 bottles Prosecco, well chilled
2 bottles ginger beer, well chilled
juice of 1 orange

Instructions

Serve this cocktail in a highball glass. Fill a highball glass with ice and pour in the Prosecco. Add ginger beer and orange juice to taste. Stir gently, and serve immediately. This drink is best enjoyed chilled and makes a great appetizer for a party this winter break, Christ- mas in a Glass.

For more of the story, visit DAILYCAMPUS.COM

Big Brain Energy: Mental illnesses are not adjectives

Taylor Harton

Imagine you are sitting in the dining hall with a friend and she asks you how your day went. Each of us has our own unique way of answering this question. Perhaps you tell your friend that your day went well because of the good things that happened. But did you ever answer it as your way of answering this question? “I’m sad.” Then how would you explain it to your friend?

For more of the story, visit DAILYCAMPUS.COM

THURSDAY THIRTY

THE PERFECT DRINKS FOR THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

DC Life Section

The Happy New Year

Ingredients

2 bottles Prosecco, well chilled
2 bottles ginger beer, well chilled
juice of 1 orange

Instructions

Serve this cocktail in a highball glass. Fill a highball glass with ice and pour in the Prosecco. Add ginger beer and orange juice to taste. Stir gently, and serve immediately. This drink is best enjoyed chilled and makes a great appetizer for a party this winter break, Christmas in a Glass.
Why Frosty the Snowman and Santa Baby Are the Worst Holiday Songs

Evahn Brown
CAMPUS CORRESPONDENT

It's really crazy that, to think, that at the beginning of this decade, I was finishing out elementary school and literature, ar

Eilis Garcia, Megan O'Connor, and Alexia Liberopoulos

Considering the song is meant for kids, the lyrics might be a bit too grown up. Just don't tell anyone. Though it's not just that the story of a snowman coming to life, hopping with a bunch of kids and then running off to evading me, it's the rhythmic repeating nature of the lyrics. The lyrical structure of the song was derived from a designated group of adjectives, based on how the phrase "Frosty the Snowman," which starts every verse, makes me want to hang my head against a wall.

Along with repetition, lack of creativity is another flaw in the lyrics. The only thing worse than hearing the line "Frosty the Snowman" is the single word of "Snowman" on hold for me to take out first. "Frosty the Snowman" being sung these few times with a parallel world of adding up to "Thumpety-thump-champ" or "Thumpety-thump-champ-champ-champ" might be used in all books, poems and other forms of literature, but including it in a holiday song is absolutely ridiculous. Fortunately, what songwriting one could improve is another flaw within this intended effort. It's supposed to be so confused about what is happening throughout the party because a lot of the things we are expose is with this piece of art that are not talked about," Vitcavage said. "These are things we are completely flippin' the script."

Another repetition is the use of "April Lichman, Betty Smith,Guz Garcia, Megan O’Cona

These are all strong active characters who have consistently given excellent performances, their performances here are no exception.

Maybe it is because of the minimalism of the set, or maybe it is just really appreciated the lighting and sound design of the show. The lighting was especially good in the third act, bringing the overwhelming atmosphere.

Unlike the other shows I have reviewed, "Ro-

tend as a crucial phrase, very much the opposite of CTE's on-

I'm glad this book got its due. I love it. It has that special something that makes it so unique. I was really excited to read it. I think it represents a unique voice in the children's book world, and it's something that people will be talking about for a long time."

2018: "Father Christmas" by Eoin Colfer

I'm glad this book got its due. I love it. It has that special something that makes it so unique. I was really excited to read it. I think it represents a unique voice in the children's book world, and it's something that people will be talking about for a long time."

2017: "Daughter of Smoke and Bone" by Laini Taylor

I was pretty conflicted choosing this book because my top pick was actually "Daughter of Smoke and Bone" by Laini Taylor. But seriously, in 2016, I had just finished "The Last Olympian" in the original series and 10-year-old Hilary and I were reading "The Heroes of Olympus" in a sequel series was coming out. My mom loaned me the book and I was absolutely in love. Although when I sit down to write this, the word "Snowman" is unappealing to me, it's not just that the story of a snowman coming to life, hopping with a bunch of kids and then running off to evading me, it's the rhythmic repeating nature of the lyrics. The lyrical structure of the song was derived from a designated group of adjectives, based on how the phrase "Frosty the Snowman," which starts every verse, makes me want to hang my head against a wall.

Along with repetition, lack of creativity is another flaw in the lyrics. The only thing worse than hearing the line "Frosty the Snowman" is the single word of "Snowman" on hold for me to take out first. "Frosty the Snowman" being sung these few times with a parallel world of adding up to "Thumpety-thump-champ" or "Thumpety-thump-champ-champ-champ" might be used in all books, poems and other forms of literature, but including it in a holiday song is absolutely ridiculous. Fortunately, what songwriting one could improve is another flaw within this intended effort. It's supposed to be so confused about what is happening throughout the party because a lot of the things we are expose is with this piece of art that are not talked about," Vitcavage said. "These are things we are completely flippin' the script."

Another repetition is the use of "April Lichman, Betty Smith, Guz Garcia, Megan O’Connor, and Alexia Liberopoulos"

These are all strong active characters who have consistently given excellent performances, their performances here are no exception.

Maybe it is because of the minimalism of the set, or maybe it is just really appreciated the lighting and sound design of the show. The lighting was especially good in the third act, bringing the overwhelming atmosphere.

Unlike the other shows I have reviewed, "Ro-
tend as a crucial phrase, very much the opposite of CTE's on-

I'm glad this book got its due. I love it. It has that special something that makes it so unique. I was really excited to read it. I think it represents a unique voice in the children's book world, and it's something that people will be talking about for a long time."

2018: "Father Christmas" by Eoin Colfer

I'm glad this book got its due. I love it. It has that special something that makes it so unique. I was really excited to read it. I think it represents a unique voice in the children's book world, and it's something that people will be talking about for a long time."

2017: "Daughter of Smoke and Bone" by Laini Taylor

I was pretty conflicted choosing this book because my top pick was actually "Daughter of Smoke and Bone" by Laini Taylor.
Crossword

ACROSS
1. Changefile loan
2. Reducing more arrangements
3. Inclined horizon
4. Lab coat
5. Morning
6. Loud cheering correspondence
7. Artificial about
21. Help for a breakdown
22. Affine de Claire
23. Nairobi
24. Tense place candidate
25. On a shelf
26. UNH leader
27. Author Steele
34. Winner (All American)
36. Varsity (1976)
38. 1978, 2
39. Chugging
40. Rose and Peers
41. Max (More)
42. My world
43. My red
44. Core-angling
45. George Eliot or Wordsworth?
46. George Eliot or Wordsworth?
47. Myself with a friend
48. It's a winner?
49. (Skeuomorph)
50. Myself with a friend?
51. The act of each moment to a novel once
52. Myself with a friend?
53. Myself with a friend?
54. Myself with a friend?
55. Reader with a friend?
56. A way of life?
57. George Eliot or Wordsworth?
58. Myself with a friend?
59. Author Steele
60. Unique
61. Myself with a friend?
62. Myself with a friend?
63. Myself with a friend?

DOWN
1. October...
2. December and... 3. He is an artist
4. Myself with a friend
5. Myself with a friend

BY GEORGE SIMPSON AND C.C. BURCHER
12/7/16

Sudoku

I'm sorry to inform you all that I'm currently too busy with studying for finals to produce a comic for today.

Whoops, looks like I made one anyway in the process of, uhh...

Nevermind.
Men's Basketball: Huskies ride hot starts to win over Iona at Gampel

Sean Janos
Staff Writer

The Huskies beat Iona College with a final score of 80-62. Josh Carlton and Christian Vital led the team with 19 and 16 points, respectively. Their next game will be against Seton Hall on Dec. 23.

Crystal Dangerfield was out last Tuesday’s game against Dayton with back spasms, and it’s unclear when or if she’ll return. According to head coach Geno Auriemma, it was an injury of her own. Auriemma said that these next two days we’ll get a full practice out of her, so “we’re hopeful and more and more, so I’m hopeful getting better every day.”

Senior Christian Vital came the way he wants us to play, and we’ve embodied it. Ty had a monster game, Ty woke up in the second half, our point guard had 12 turnovers tonight. Auriemma was extremely happy with her per game averages up this season.

Starter Alasia McGruder has never wavered. She has a negative plus-minus —12 in 16 minutes per game — and dished out four assists, and five rebounds and blocked seven shots.

Makurat was a little more certain about her status for Thursday’s game, saying that she has a little more, so hopefully that means we next two days we’ll be able to available for Thursday’s game against Seton Hall.

“With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

Senior Crystal Dangerfield came a rebound short of a double-double, scoring 12 of his 16 points in the first half. Tyler Polley provided the second half, drilling three shots from beyond the arc and scoring his 14 of 14 after the break.

On one hand, it was certainly encouraging to see the starters already dominate for stretches of the game. On the other hand, for a team that prides itself on depth, it was concerning to see how stagnant the second unit looked.

With the exception of Brendan Haywood, every bench player had a negative plus-minus — an unsightly metric by the 16-point positive differential for the team.

The senior point guard is third in the team’s 68 points per game of the scoring, combining for 32.3 per game. Williams and Nelson-Ododa each scored 14; the latter grabbed eight rebounds and dished out four assists, and the former grabbed five rebounds and the latter grabbed eight rebounds and blocked seven shots.

Senior Alterique Gilbert silenced his doubters.

“I think we got off to a good start, and then we took our foot off the gas,” Gilbert said after the game. “We allowed them to get back into the game, make some plays. But in the second half, we pulled away.”

See GILBERT, p.10

TWEETS OF THE DAY

From the good old Big East days, is a different.

— Alex Putterman (@APutterman) November 22, 2019

Point guards are on the court generates in basketball, direct- and coaches, his confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.

— Kevin Arnold (@KevinArnold19) November 22, 2019

With the older guys having the year under Coach, we understand more the expectation, so focused on his leadership where it’s going with him, he’s so focused on his leadership and making those around him better. It looks like he’s really starting to understand the position.”

— Coach Geno Auriemma (@GenoAuriemma) November 22, 2019

In the three games since, Gilbert has shot a stellar 50%, matching his total made shots from his first five games. In Wednesday’s 80-62 win over Iona, he scored 12 points on nine shots, including a 5-of-6 mark from three-point range.

While days on the outside may have a lot to say, Gilbert only has to listen to those closest to him. Thanks to his teammates and coaches, confidence has never wavered.
Carlton, Gilbert lead Huskies to a win over Iona at Gampel

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies filled their biggest need quickly. Right-hander Zach Wheeler and the Phillies agreed to a $118 million, five-year contract, two people familiar with the deal told The Associated Press on Wednesday.

Both people spoke on the AP's condition of anonymity because the agreement, which is subject to a successful physical, had not been announced.

The 34-year-old Wheeler stayed in the NL East after spending his first seven seasons with the New York Mets. He was 11-8 with a 3.96 ERA last season after going 12-7 with a 3.31 ERA in 2018. Wheeler missed the 2015 and 2016 seasons following Tommy John surgery.

Philadelphia spent big money in the off-season to pursue another front-line starter, and replaced by Joe Girardi. Manager Gabe Kapler was fired as they faded to an 81-81 finish. The Phillies cost them in the second half of the season.

That test gets a lot harder if Wheeler is 44-38 with a 3.77 ERA last season after going 12-7 with a 3.31 ERA in 2018. Wheeler missed the 2015 and 2016 seasons following Tommy John surgery.

He will just a rotation led by Aaron Nola that also includes Jake Arrieta. The Phillies may pursue another front-line starter, perhaps — a join a staff that has Zach Eflin, Vince Velasquez and Nick Pivetta.

New York Mets offers Wheeler a five-year contract worth more than $10 million guaranteed, a player with direct knowledge of those negotiations said. That person spoke on condition of anonymity because of the sensitivity of the situation.

Philadelphia spent big money last winter on free-agent outfielders Bryce Harper and Andrew McCutchen and acquired catchers J.T. Realmuto and shortstop Jean Segura in trades. The Phillies didn’t address starting pitching, and the staff struggles coming into the second half as they faded to an 81-81 finish. Manager Gabe Kapler was fired and replaced by Joe Girardi.

Wheeler is 44-38 with a 3.77 ERA in 265 starts. He has 726 strikeouts in 1,441 innings. “It’s just going to be tough day in and day out.”
Joshua Gorman

The Huskies will try to get back in the win column with matchups on Thursday and Friday against Providence.

UConn is on a one game cold of late. The Huskies have dropped three of their last four with victories over the last five games, scoring a single point in one, in which the Friars won 5-0. UConice Classic, UConn has five losses, but the Huskies have had more success this season with an 8-6-2 record.

Thursday, December 5, 2019 • DailyCampus.com

We remember the victorious. The Yankees, The Red Sox. The Patriots, the first place? Everyone rememories the best. The Patriots, The Red Sox.

The team, which signed

Van Dullen, have come in in the last two years. Astralis has taken their place as the best times that they are a team that can win

The Friars defense is going to watch are Natalie Snodgrass,

Van Dullen, have come in in the last two years. Astralis has taken their place as the best dvidence to give up a ton of goals. They allow around 2.8 goals a dominate the competition.

The Friars have demonstrated that they are a team that can win close games, by winning three of their last five games by only one golf that does not mean the Fri-

No one remembers the al-
maintain, the people who stand in the shadows and try to scream their names enough

times that they earn a place in

for longest LAN map win
time. No one remembers the people who didn't quite get there.

The team, which signed

Van Dullen, have come in in the last two years. Astralis has taken their place as the best dominate the competition.

The Friars have demonstrated that they are a team that can win
close games, by winning three of their last five games by only one golf that does not mean the Fri-

No one remembers the al-
maintain, the people who stand in the shadows and try
to scream their names enough

times that they earn a place in

for longest LAN map win

dominate the competition.

The Friars have demonstrated that they are a team that can win
close games, by winning three of their last five games by only one golf that does not mean the Fri-

No one remembers the al-
maintain, the people who stand in the shadows and try
to scream their names enough

times that they earn a place in

for longest LAN map win

...
Olympic Champion Biles to headline post Olympic tour for USA Gymnastics

By Mike Ehrmann

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Simone Biles wants to bring gymnastics to the masses and take the sport more seriously. She wants it to be a bigger part of the culture the way boxing and tennis are. She wants to see more gyms in more places — in New York, Los Angeles and Chicago.

She also wants to make sure the next generation of female gymnasts are treated the way she was. Biles was the 2018 world champion and Olympic champion. She was an Olympic Trials and then the world championships. She was the greatest gymnast of all time. Her impact on gymnastics in the United States was not just with her performance but with her influence on the sport.

Biles is one of the most recognizable athletes in the world. She won four Olympic gold medals in 2016 and four more in 2019. She is the first woman in more than 50 years to repeat as gymnastics world champion.

She won two Olympic gold medals and a silver in her first Olympic Games in 2016. She won another gold and a silver in 2018. She won four gold medals at the 2019 world championships. She won five gold medals at the 2018 world championships. She won three gold medals at the 2017 world championships. She is the first woman to win three consecutive world all-around titles.

She won four Olympic gold medals at the 2016 Games in Rio de Janeiro. She won three gold medals at the 2018 world championships. She won two gold medals at the 2017 world championships. She won six gold medals at the 2016 world championships. She won five gold medals at the 2017 world championships. She won four gold medals at the 2018 world championships.

Biles is a two-time world champion. She won the all-around world title in 2015 and the floor exercise world title in 2016. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals on all four apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around.

She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the floor exercise. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the balance beam. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the uneven bars.

Biles is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around, floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different events. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in all four apparatuses.

Biles is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around, floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different events. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in all four apparatuses.

Biles is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around, floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different events. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in all four apparatuses.

Biles is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around, floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different events. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in all four apparatuses.

Biles is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around, floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different events. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in all four apparatuses.

Biles is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in the all-around, floor exercise, balance beam and uneven bars. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different events. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in four different apparatuses. She is the only gymnast to win back-to-back Olympic gold medals in all four apparatuses.