

FREEING YOUTH FROM SEX TRAFFICKING

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

JUVENILE DETENTION OUTREACH (JDO)

Victims of domestic minor sex trafficking are often sitting in jail for the crime committed against them or a crime committed in the process of their captivity. Traffick911 takes its interactive Traps youth program into the juvenile detention facilities, where we build relationships while preventing and identifying victims. This team has identified almost 300 victims of sex trafficking during this outreach. We ask that you commit to serving one time per month. Typically, we are in the facility for about two hours at a time. We have teams in the following county facilities:

Dallas County (3 separate facilities)
Hood County (Granbury)
Denton County
Collin County (McKinney)
Bell County (Killeen)

Williamson County (Georgetown)
Brazos County (Bryan)
Fort Bend County (Houston-area)

PREVENTION OUTREACH TEAM

Wouldn't you rather prevent young people from becoming victims in the first place? Help us reach youth (and parents) and share important information on how to stay safe from traffickers by presenting our Traps youth program or being on the Prevention Support Team. We bring this program into schools, youth shelters, CPS groups, Boys & Girls Clubs, etc. Time commitment varies as opportunities arise. Cleared presenters are encouraged to schedule their own presentations within their community/network. The Support Team attends the program and assists the presenter by helping set up, connecting with youth before and after the program and bringing snacks.
