Publication Descriptions:

"Building Leaders for Life" - A High School Leadership Class Curriculum

- ◆ The goals for "Building Leaders for Life" provide a balanced framework for teaching leadership.
- ◆ The curriculum is divided into five areas as:
 - Communication*
 - Group Process*
 - Managerial Skills*
 - Self Awareness*
 - Human Relations*Within each of the five curricular areas there are lessons that address specific objectives.
- ◆ Each lesson is designed to stand on its own, allowing you the freedom to pick and choose as needed.
- ◆ The appendix contains sample course outlines and grading formats.

"Starting in the Middle" - Leadership Designs for Middle Level Students

- ◆ "Starting in the Middle" has been designed as a source book for teaching leadership concepts to middle level students.
- ◆ To accommodate an advisory setting as well as a leadership class the majority of these lessons have been written in 15-minute blocks, which can be combined to form a daily lesson.
- ◆ The format of this guide was designed to allow you the flexibility to teach a single lesson when needed, or a complete unit as the calendar dictates.
- ◆ The appendix contains sample course outlines and constitutions, which may be helpful as you create or restructure the leadership program in your school.

"More than Pom Pons and Pyramids" - A Coach's Guide to a Quality CheerLeadership Program

- ◆ Written by a group of experienced cheer coaches and CheerLeadership staff members, "More than Pom Pons and Pyramids" offer ideas and plans in the areas of Cheerleadership Basics, Squad Organization and Management, Skill Development, Spirit Building, Team Building, and Fundraising.
- ◆ "More than Pom Pons and Pyramids" is an essential guide for schools looking to build a quality program where Cheerleaders serve as Leaders within their school.
