As I have spent the majority of the past week researching, finding, and compiling resources for us to get out to folks, a moment of clarity struck me. Resources are great and are needed during this time. However, as I have spoken with students throughout our state and have spoken with many of you with students - it is evident that we need to be there for them. I have been on the phone for hours each day just talking with students as they navigate this landscape.

Maslow before Resources.
People before Resources.
Relationships before Resources.
Connection before Resources.

As Joe explained. the most important thing we can do right now, is showing up for each other. "In times of stress, the best thing we can do for each other is to listen with our ears and our hearts and to be assured that our questions are just as important as our answers." - Fred Rogers
