

WEEK FIVE PROGRAMME

This week is presented by Focus E15 Campaign, continuing to build their movement that demands SOCIAL HOUSING, NOT SOCIAL CLEANSING. The week will include a range of material, artefacts and films from their campaign, an eviction resistance workshop, open mic night, discussions and socials.

Gallery open 12 to 6pm

Wednesday 18 March

2–4pm: Energy Rights workshop by Fuel Poverty Action

“Struggling to pay your energy bills or top up your meter? Join FPA for information, support and collective action!”

6–8.30pm: Opening social and open mic night

Come along for a drink and food, see photographs by Jess Hurd and watch some campaign films.

Thursday 19 March

1.30–3pm: The Transformation of London Council Housing 1960s-2010s: From Gentrification Buffer to State-led Gentrification

With Senior Lecturer Paul Watt of Birkbeck, Tawanda Nyabango from CARP talking about Carpenters estate in Newham, and Jasmin Parsons from Our West Hendon talking about West Hendon estate in Barnet.

3.30–5pm: Geraldine Dening, lecturer on architecture at De Montfort University, discusses the role of architecture in the crisis

This discussion will cover the way estates were built in the first place, to the tactical ways architecture is used as a weapon today (poor doors, boarding up buildings, economic or social cleansing...) and how or whether architecture can help to improve the situation. The second part of this session will include a presentation of Dening's project about the dispersal and displacement of people, based on information from the Heygate Estate along with FREE postcards created by Focus E15 to take away and send.

7–8pm: An evening of performances, readings and films

Including a performance of Ursula by Alison Ballance; a reading by writer and critic Patrick Langley; and screenings of Letter from New Orleans by writer and critic Morgan Quaintance and Inversion Reflection by artist Rab Harling. Organised by Matthew McQuillan.
