

Brent Cebul

University of North Carolina, Charlotte / Department of History / Garinger 226
9201 University City Blvd. / Charlotte, North Carolina / 28223
brent.cebul@uncc.edu
bcebul@gmail.com

Academic Appointments

Assistant Professor, U.S. History, University of North Carolina, Charlotte, 2017 –
Mellon Postdoctoral Research Scholar, Digital Scholarship Lab, University of Richmond, 2015-2017
Visiting Scholar, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, 2014-2015

Education

Ph.D., History, University of Virginia, 2014
B.A., History, Hamilton College, honors in history, 2003

Publications

Books:

The American Way of Growth: Business, Poverty, and Development in the American Century (under contract, University of Pennsylvania Press, series: Politics and Culture in Modern America)

Shaped by the State: Toward a New Political History of the Twentieth Century, edited with Lily Gesimer and Mason B. Williams (University of Chicago Press, forthcoming 2018)

Peer Reviewed Articles:

“Creative Competition: The TVA, Georgia Power, and the Forging of a Rural Consumer Market, 1933-1955” (Journal of American History, forthcoming June 2018)

“Clio and the Compound Republic,” Publius, (2017) 47 (2): 235-259, with Karen Tani and Mason B. Williams

Peer Reviewed Book Chapters:

“Revisiting the Question of Federalism: Intergovernmental State-building and the New Deal Roots of Urban Liberalism and Sunbelt Conservatism,” with Mason B. Williams, in Cebul, Lily Geismer, and Mason B. Williams, eds., Shaped by the State (University of Chicago Press, forthcoming 2018).

“The Antigovernment Impulse: The Modern Presidency, the Market, and the Splintering Common Good,” in Roger Biles and Mark Rose, eds., The President and American Capitalism Since 1945 (University Press of Florida, 2017).

“‘They were the moving spirits’: Business and Supply-Side Liberalism in the Postwar South,” in Kimberly Phillips-Fein and Richard John, eds., Capital Gains: Business and Politics in the Twentieth Century (University of Pennsylvania Press, 2016).

Selected Digital History Projects:

“Renewing Inequality: Mapping Urban Renewal, 1954-1974,” in American Panorama, Digital Scholarship Lab, University of Richmond (Initial Launch, December 2017)

Other Articles and Review Essays:

“On the Smithsonian’s American Enterprise Exhibit: The Value of Structurally Sound History,” American Quarterly, December 2016, Volume 68, Issue 4, 1061-1079.

“Capitalism’s Life Blood,” Reviews in American History, Vol. 44, No. 4., December 2016, 561-568.

“Liberated as Hell: Autonomy, Precarity, and the Ways of Modern Work,” Hedgehog Review, Vol. 18, No. 1, Spring 2016, 34-45.

“Markets and Morals in the ‘Capitalism Turn’: A Review of Recent Scholarship on the Culture of Economic Life,” with Stephen Macekura, Christina McRorie, and Julia Ticona, Soundings: An Interdisciplinary Journal, Vol. 99, No. 2 (2016), 136-170.

Book Reviews and Reference Essays:

“The Great Society,” in The American Yawp, ed. Joseph Locke and Ben Wright, 2014.

Review, Michael Bowen, The Roots of Modern Conservatism: Dewey, Taft, and the Battle for the Soul of the Republican Party in Kansas History: A Journal of the Central Plains (Fall 2012).

Awards, Fellowships, and Research Grants

Faculty Research Grant, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, 2018-2019

Associate Fellow, Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture, 2011-2017

Dissertation Fellow, Miller Center, 2013-2014

Roberts Fellow, Eisenhower Institute, 2013-2014

Fellow, Institute of the Humanities and Global Cultures, University of Virginia, 2012-2013

Fellow, Bankard Fund for Political Economy, University of Virginia, 2012-2013

John Anson Kittridge Educational Fund Research Award, 2012-2013

Best Graduate Instructor Award, Department of History, University of Virginia, 2011-2012

Gerald R. Ford Scholar Award in Honor of Robert M. Teeter (Dissertation Award), Gerald R. Ford Presidential Library, 2011-2012

Social Science History Association Conference, Graduate Student Paper Award, 2010

Pending Grant Applications

Project Investigator and Co-Director, “Urban Renewal: New Perspectives, New Data, New Directions,” National Endowment for the Humanities, Collaborative Research Grant (Amount Requested: $49,905)

Talks, Comments, and Public Presentations

“Mindless Cannibals: Newt Gingrich and the Politics of Polarization and Impeachment,” Invited Paper, “The Nineties” Conference, Purdue University, March 2-3, 2017, Lafayette, IN.

“Making ‘love to our entrepreneurs’: Localism and the Rise of Post-industrial Policy, 1972-1995,” American Historical Association Meeting, January 2017, Denver, CO.

“Whither Neoliberalism? An Interdisciplinary Conversation on Neoliberalism’s Role in the City and Its Place in Historical Scholarship,” Roundtable, American Historical Association Meeting, January 2017, Denver, CO.

“Deregulating the War on Poverty: Or, Restoring the Urban New Deal Order, 1967-1974,” Urban History Association Conference, October 15, 2016, Chicago, IL.

Panelist: “What do the humanities have to say to urbanists?” Human/Ties, September 16, 2016, Charlottesville, VA (Conference celebrating the 50th anniversary of the National Endowment for the Humanities).

- “Making ‘love to our entrepreneurs’: Post-industrial Policy and the Nationalization of American Politics, 1972-1995,” Policy History Conference, June 4, 2016, Nashville, TN.
- “The American Way of Growth,” May 10, 2016, National Museum of American History Colloquium Series, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.
- “Liberated as Hell,” Markets and Morals Symposium, April 15, 2016, Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture and Institute for New Economic Thinking, Charlottesville, VA. (Co-organizer)
- “Political History Beyond the Liberalism-Conservatism Paradigm,” Roundtable, Organization of American Historians Meeting, April 9, 2016, Providence, RI.
- “The Antigovernment Impulse: The Modern Presidency, the Market, and the Splintering Public Good,” The Presidency and American Capitalism since 1945, Alan B. Larkin Symposium on the American Presidency, Florida Atlantic University, February 17-18, 2016
- Comment, Jonathan Levy, “From Fiscal Triangle to Passing Through,” MadCap: Movements and Directions in Capitalism Symposium, U.Va., Charlottesville, VA, October 19, 2015.
- “Revisiting the Question of Federalism: Intergovernmental State-building and the New Deal Roots of Urban Liberalism and Sunbelt Conservatism,” with Mason B. Williams, September 24, 2015, “Beyond the New Deal Order,” Center for the Study of Work, Labor, and Democracy, University of California, Santa Barbara, Santa Barbara, CA.
- “The Legacies of Urban Renewal,” Thriving Cities Conference, August 6, 2015, Portland, OR.
- “Bootstraps Nation: A History of Entrepreneurial Self-Help in Modern America,” Hoover Institution Archives Workshop on Political Economy, Stanford University, June 26, 2015, Stanford, CA.
- “Creative Competition: The TVA, Georgia Power, and the Forging of a Rural Consumer Market, 1933-1955,” Institute for Political History, Boston University, April 1, 2015, Boston, MA
- “Creative Competition: The TVA, Georgia Power, and the Forging of a Rural Consumer Market, 1933-1955,” American Academy of Arts and Sciences, March 10, 2015, Cambridge, MA.
- “Our ‘responsibility to the city and the people of Cleveland’: The Rise of Business Producerism and Municipal Default in Cleveland, Ohio,” Histories of American Capitalism Conference, November 2014, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY.
- “Our ‘responsibility to the city and the people of Cleveland’: Business Producerism and Municipal Default in 1970s Cleveland, Ohio,” Urban History Association Conference, October 2014, Philadelphia, PA.
- “Pro Growth v. Pro Market: Building and Burying the Developmental State,” Policy History Conference, June, 2014, Columbus, OH.

“Developmental State,” Miller Center Fellows Conference, May 8, 2014, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, VA.

“Pro Growth v. Pro Market: Local Businessmen, Economic Development and Forging the Developmental State in Rural Georgia, 1938-1965,” Business and Politics in 20th Century America Conference, Hagley Museum and Library, November 8, 2013, Wilmington, DE.

“Deregulatory State Building: The Case of General Revenue Sharing, 1972-1986,” Policy History Conference, June, 2012, Richmond, VA.

“Government’s Invisible Hand: Free Market Myths & Government’s Role in Shaping Housing Opportunity and Economic Inequality,” FLASH Seminar, University of Virginia, April 24, 2012.

Comment, Matthew Lassiter, “From ‘Generation Gap’ to ‘Just Say No’: Suburban Politics and the War on Drugs from the 1960s to the 1980s,” Colloquium, Miller Center, April 13, 2012.

Business History Doctoral Colloquium, Philadelphia, PA, March 29, 2012

“Public-Private Governance in an era of ‘Neoliberal’ Policy Prescriptions: The Case of Cleveland, Ohio, 1979-1989,” Organization of American Historians Conference, March 2012, Milwaukee, WI.

“The Policy Limits of Populist Conservatism: Federalism and White Ethnic Politics in Cleveland, Ohio, 1971-1980,” History of the Contemporary United States Conference, July 2011, St. Anne’s College, Oxford University, Oxford, U.K.

“Small Government Politics / Big Government Policies: The Rise of Working Class Republicans, 1971-1980,” Boston University Graduate History Conference, April 2011, Boston University, Boston, MA.

“Electoral Capture and the Pro-Life Religious Right: Single Issue Voters in America’s Polarized Two Party System,” Social Science History Association Conference, November 2010, Chicago, IL.

Published Commentary

“The Problem of Progressive Cities and the Property Tax,” The Atlantic’s CityLab, August 18, 2017

“Democrats Don’t Need Another Barack Obama,” New Republic, November 15, 2016

“They Were Made for Each Other: How Newt Gingrich laid the groundwork for Donald Trump’s rise,” New Republic, July 11, 2016 (with Nicole Hemmer)

“Restoring Security by (Re)discovering the Culture of Flexible Work,” Public Seminar, June 2, 2016

“Government, big or small: Presidents from Nixon to Obama have promised to streamline government, but in truth they've usually found uses for government power instead,” Los Angeles Times, January 23, 2012

“The Tea Party: It’s All About Us,” San Francisco Chronicle, Sunday Insights, March 20, 2011

Teaching

The Age of Reagan: American Politics and American Identity Since the 1960s, UNCC, Fall 2017, Spring 2018

U.S. History Graduate Colloquium, 1865-Present, Spring 2018

U.S. History since 1865, UNCC, Fall 2017

Instructor, University of Virginia, Spring 2011

History Behind the Headlines: An Introduction to American Political Development
(cross-listed in History and Political Science)

Adviser, Undergraduate Independent Research Project in History, Fall 2010

Teaching Assistant, University of Virginia, 2008-2010

History of the Civil Rights Movement, Prof. Julian Bond

U.S. Society and Politics since 1945, Prof. Jennifer Burns

Russian History since 1917, Prof. Jeffrey Rossman

History of Espionage in the United States, Prof. Gerald Haines

English Teacher, Millbrook School, Millbrook, NY, 2005-2007

Solebury School, New Hope, PA, 2004-2005

Selected Service and Professional Activities

Co-editor and contributor, Bunk (Power and Politics section co-editor with Leah Wright Rigueuer)

Original posts include:

“The Supply-Side Swindle,” November 17, 2017

“The Problem with Reagan Democrats,” October 19, 2017

“Trump and the Historians,” September 1, 2017

Director, 2015-2016, Program on Culture, Capitalism and Global Change, Institute for Advanced Studies in Culture, University of Virginia, co-director, 2013 – 2015

Project Investigator, Thriving Cities Project, 2012 – 2017

Referee: Journal of Urban History, Enterprise & Society, Essays in History

Selected Interviews and Media Mentions

Greg Miller, “Maps Show How Tearing Down City Slums Displaced Thousands,” National Geographic, December 15, 2017.

Ryan Reft, “Segregation in the City of Angels: A 1939 Map of Housing Inequality in L.A.,” KCET, January 19, 2017.

Camila Domonoske, “Interactive Redlining Map Zooms in on America’s History of Discrimination,” NPR, October 19, 2016

Kim Phillips-Fein, “The Roots of American Conservatism,” The Nation, May 4, 2016

Geoffrey Kabaservice, “Dave Brat and the Rise of Right-Wing Populism,” Politico Magazine, June 12, 2014

Kim Curtis, “‘History Behind the Headlines’ Course Features Miller Center Colloquium Series,” UVa Today, January 25, 2011

Professional Associations

American Historical Association
Organization of American Historians
Urban History Association
Business History Conference
Policy History Conference