Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin, Inc.

2013 Annual Report to the Community
DSAW Self-Advocate Board Member Letter

As a self-advocate board member of the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin, I continue to serve by attending meetings and events whenever I can. I am frequently invited to participate in the peer sensitivity training that DSAW offers to schools. My fellow board members appreciate my input from the viewpoint of someone who has Down syndrome. I consider it a privilege to serve.

This year I became a participant in the IRIS program. IRIS stands for Include, Respect, I Self-Direct. DSAW has helped me to enroll in this program as well as to choose and hire the caregivers I need.

DSAW is also assisting me to transfer the responsibility for the supports I receive from my parents to my siblings. My siblings are learning to deal with government agencies that provide assistance with housing, income, health care, and supportive home care. DSAW is helping to make this a smooth transition.

The services DSAW provides for me are available to all its members. A phone call or email is all it takes.

Sincerely,

Andrew Gerbitz

DSAW Board of Directors
Dear Friend:

Thank you for all you do for individuals with Down syndrome and their loved ones, and thank you for being a supporter of the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin (DSAW).

We are proud to say that roughly 90% of the funding for DSAW comes from our members, through general donations, membership renewal dues, and our other fundraising events. As our services grow, our goal is to grow revenue through not only our consistent membership support, but also through new, external support as well.

Your investment in our organization, whether as a member, donor or volunteer, allows DSAW to continue to serve as your partner. It allows DSAW to continue providing resources, referrals, support and education about all aspects of Down syndrome from birth to adulthood.

DSAW continues to make significant strides toward our ultimate objective of being the best-supported state for individuals with Down syndrome, along with their loved ones. We continue to provide top-notch services such as:

- Roadmap sessions with families on topics such as IEP’s, Benefits, Nutrition, Family Care, Employment, Supported Living, Alzheimer’s and Dementia, allowing DSAW staff to provide valuable information and resources to parents and caregivers;
- Distribution of Down syndrome information packets for new and expectant families to hospitals, OB and pediatric clinics, genetic counselors, and Birth to 3 programs;
- Monthly e-newsletter and other periodic newsletters to over 2600 households;
- DSAW Sponsored Family Events such as the Annual Summer Picnic, Annual Milwaukee Brewers Tailgate Party, and Annual Holiday Party.

Thank you for supporting the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin. Please visit us at www.dsaw.org for more information about our organization and programming.

Sincerely,

Mission (what we do)

Our mission at the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin (DSAW) is simple. We are here to provide support to families and individuals with Down syndrome through education, information, and the exchange of ideas and experiences.

We do that via:

∗ Our website, www.dsw.org
∗ A quarterly newsletter to our members
∗ New-parent information packets at hospitals and clinics throughout Wisconsin
∗ Family matching services
∗ Community education for members and health professionals
∗ Special events that bring families and individuals together
∗ Outreach to medical professionals on how to deliver an unbiased diagnosis
∗ Programming for new and expectant parents
∗ Programming for youth with Down syndrome
∗ Support Circles
∗ Individualized Education Planning (IEP)
∗ Peer Sensitivity Training
∗ Beyond High School, Transition Planning
∗ Support for Housing, Caregivers, Benefits, & Employment
∗ Self Advocacy
∗ DSAW D.A.D.S

Vision (what we want to become)

The vision of DSAW is that we all understand the value of those with Down syndrome in our lives and our communities. We will continue to strive toward full acceptance, full access, full life and full potential.

As a policy, DSAW does not endorse any medical, therapeutic or special education alternatives. We are primarily a volunteer organization that wishes to create an optimistic outlook about Down syndrome for our families and others. The purpose of our website is to provide our members and the general community an educational background about, and a source of information on, issues related to Down syndrome.
Core Values and Identity

Core Values (our priorities and how we act)
- Optimism for our families and others
- Equality for those with Down syndrome
- Availability to help our members around the state
- Professionalism, experts on Down syndrome and the needs of members of all ages
- Efficiency in how we leverage time (volunteer hours) and treasure (donations)
- Highest level of financial transparency and integrity
- Being conservative to ensure we are here for future generations

Identity (what sets us apart)
To our members, volunteers and donors: DSAW has become a very efficient group of leveraged Chapters supporting Wisconsin, governed by a Board of Directors and led by a small nucleus of paid staff to maximize efficiency and provide technical depth across the state. In 2011, we saw the power and value of this Chapter model, and we doubled our programming across the state year over year.

To our Chapters and Advisory Board Members across the state that provide local support to our members: DSAW is excited to support and partner with you as you grow and become self-sufficient in your abilities to support your local community.
Our History

Joan Balliet, a nurse and mother of a child with Down syndrome, founded the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin, Inc. 21 years ago. She was able to pull together a number of families that all shared a passion to help those with Down syndrome in Wisconsin. As one of the founding families 22 years ago, I (Ron Malloy, DSAW’s current Executive Director) remember two meetings. At the first meeting, we voted on a name for the organization. Joan was emphatic the name must begin with Down syndrome because it was felt families searching for information on Down syndrome would first open the phone book and look up Down syndrome. Even today many families still find DSAW through the phone book. The second meeting I remember was a huge picnic where families from all across the state got together to share a potluck lunch, DSAW’s first social event.

Dr. David Smith, Joan’s husband at the time, had a sister with Down syndrome. Dr. Smith commented that he thought his sister died at an early age due to complications associated with, an undiagnosed case of hypothyroidism. Joan, a nurse, and David, a doctor, were married, and living in Maryland in 1985 when their son Charlie was born with Down syndrome. One of the first things they learned was that it was hard to get any information on Down syndrome. There was not a lot of support. As a physician, David went to the library and the most recent book he was able to find on Down syndrome was published in the 1950s. David and Joan were unable to find another family with a child with Down syndrome in Maryland. The family eventually found and was able to meet with Dr. Pueschel in Rhode Island, one of the grandfathers of health care for people with Down syndrome. When David, Joan and Charlie moved to Wisconsin in 1987, Joan had a few years of experience working the system for Charlie. It was not easy. She dreamed that there would be a statewide organization of support for persons with Down syndrome and their families – an organization that would educate and help to improve the overall lives of people with Down syndrome. Through her tireless efforts, she was able to pull together families of children with Down syndrome and start what is now the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin. In the beginning, meetings were scheduled to educate as many professionals as possible. David and Joan offered their services to families with a newly diagnosed child with Down syndrome. New Parent packets were assembled and sent out to as many hospitals, schools and social service organizations as possible. The schools and hospitals needed constant monitoring to make sure they used the information. It was frustrated at times. DSAW was able to create some public service announcements. It was a big step when we were able to place two large billboards showing our pride in persons with Down syndrome, and that they should not be underestimated. The kids were dressed in tuxedos.

In 1995, DSAW was able to hire its first part-time office manager, Polly Daniels, and started fundraising. In 1997, DSAW was able to open an office on the northwest side of Milwaukee in the Endometriosis Association Building. DSAW utilized volunteers in the office. We did our best to include people with Down syndrome serving in the office. We had a large computerized database of parents and organizations. In 1997, DSAW’s two largest fundraising events were launched, the Buddy Walk and the Golf Outing. In 2000, DSAW added a website giving us the ability to educate and support many more people. Unable to afford the rent, the office was closed for a brief time in 2001 and reopened in 2002. (The office reopened when it was able to find donors willing to underwrite the cost of the office rent.) Social events were always a big hit. The Christmas party with Santa Claus, which included gifts for all the children, and summer picnics in the park, were a great time for everyone to get together. Fundraisers were always interesting. We staffed one of the food service windows at the old Milwaukee County Stadium. We were able to do one for a Green Bay Packer game when they played in Milwaukee. The Buddy Walks, now named our Down Syndrome Awareness Walk, started in Milwaukee in 1997. The 1st walk raised $5,000 and had 75 walkers. In 2011, five walks were hosted across the state, which were attended by more than 4,500 walkers. In 2000, a statewide conference in central Wisconsin was organized to celebrate our 10-year anniversary, which emphasized that we were a statewide organization. The conference was held in Stevens Point, funded by a grant received from the Forest County Potawatomi Foundation. The conference was a huge success. It was soon after that event that Joan Balliet stepped aside and others took over the organization. DSAW is still going today.

That is a testament to a strong start, a solid organization, and a definitive need for resources, support and education on issues surrounding Down syndrome. In 2007, several advisory board members wanting to start a Chapter in their community approached DSAW. In 2009, DSAW moved the office into the Marian Center for Nonprofits for cost savings and nonprofit synergy. In 2013 a new Mantra emerged that Wisconsin would be come the best-supported state in the country for those with Down syndrome. In 2013 we formally brought DSAW-Children of the Heart - Greater La Crosse Area on board as a new Chapter and transitioned the activities that supported the Greater Milwaukee Area which includes the Counties of Milwaukee, Waukesha, Racine, Kenosha, Walworth, Ozaukee, and Washington to the new Greater Milwaukee Area Chapter allowing the State Organization to focus on truly statewide initiatives such as employment, prenatal outreach, and school peer sensitivity outreach. We followed a successful pilot in 2013 to realize our vision that we all understand the value of those with Down syndrome in our lives and communities. DSAW formally passed a resolution creating DSAW Family Services, which supports DSAW's Vision of full acceptance, full access, full life and full potential by offering services to help those with Down syndrome self-direct their services in Wisconsin.
2013 Annual Report - Accomplishments

- Chapters Around Wisconsin added two new Chapters in 2013, the Greater Milwaukee Area Chapter and the Children of the Heart -- Greater La Crosse Area Chapter where there are now over 50 volunteer advisory board members across the state delivering high quality programming and support to families across the state. The programming by collective Chapters increased by 50% during 2013.

- Health Care Partnership & Prenatal Diagnosis Education and Medical Outreach updated our Spanish and English new parent packs adding the book “Gifts” to the packet of information and we also distributed the book “Understanding a Prenatal Down syndrome Diagnosis” to hundreds of OB GYNs. Our first grand rounds Physician-to-Physician educational outreach was scheduled in 2013 and will occur in 2014 at the Medical College of Wisconsin. A hands-on nutrition workshop was conducted for 15 self advocates and an educational seminar was held for 70 families on nutrition. Fifty-five families and representatives from 15 schools attend seminars on toilet training and behavior conducted in conjunction with the Down syndrome clinic of Wisconsin.

- iCan Shine™ Bike Riding Camp was conducted for the first time in Waukesha County realizing our goal of rotating the camp through the counties of Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Waukesha and Kenosha Counties annually. In 2014 DSAW plans to sponsor bike camps in the La Crosse and Green Bay areas.

- Our School Partnership Program added on a dedicated “School Peer Sensitivity Outreach Specialist” to present at the rate of one school per week in 2014. DSAW was called in as an expert consultant by two school districts in 2013 to help schools identify successful strategies for students with behavior challenges.

- Dads Appreciating Down Syndrome (D.A.D.S.) welcomed some new DADS in 2013 and conducted educational topics on guardianship, supplemental trusts and sibling support.

- Employment Connect in partnership with UW-Stout conducted a seminar to increase business’s awareness of the benefits of hiring someone with Down syndrome that was attended by seven businesses and 15 job-coaching agencies. DSAW is coordinating an employment initiative intended to hire 10% of 50 workers with developmental disabilities at FedEx Smart Post in New Berlin, WI. The first person started working at FedEx this October and DSAW is coordinating the effort to include two government agencies (Include Respect I Self Direct-IRIS and the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation-DVR).

- Topic Specific Roadmap Sessions to help families overcome challenges and achieve dreams supported over 50 one-on-one sessions in 2013 in areas such as school behavior and academic challenges (25), employment (7), adult independent living (10), re-location into Wisconsin (10) and medical (5).

- The 2013 Annual Awareness for Down Syndrome, for the first time attracted 7,000 walkers for every one of the estimated 7,000 people in Wisconsin who have Down syndrome.

- DSAW added a “Nutrition, Health and Wellness” grant in response to our self-advocates asking for more support around maintain a healthy weight and exercise. A new grant to help families with “adoption costs” was also added.

- Volunteer Programs recognized our board members with portraits of a 3 year old with Down syndrome dressed in a tuxedo with his hands raised in celebration captioned with DSAW’s vision.

The Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin is staffed by one full time Executive Director and a part time Office Manager and part time Office Assistant. DSAW staff is focused on delivering value to our members through our many educational and medical outreach trainings, awareness events and social events. Our member services include detailed one-on-one roadmap sessions, our parent connect program and information referrals.

Our staff has significant domain knowledge and hands on experience in the areas of:

- I.F.S.P.- Individual Family Service Plan
- I.E.P. -Individualized Education Program
- C.L.T.S.- Children's Long Term Waiver
- Medical Assistance Personal Care
- Katie Beckett
- Birth to Three
- Early Childhood
- Transition (Elementary, Middle, High School, Community)
- Employment
- Self Employment of People with Down syndrome
- I.R.I.S. - Include Respect I Self Direct
- Family Care
- Self Determination
- Community Supported Living
- Supportive Home Care
- Supplemental Trusts
- Peer Sensitivity
- Guardianship
- Transportation
- Dual Diagnosis Autism
- Celiac Disease
- Major Medical (Heart, Duodenal Atresia etc.)

We do not give medical or legal advice. For the above topics, office staff is able to meet with families and explain a topic in detail, how to apply or access the program and most importantly we are able to specifically talk about how the program will help a person with Down syndrome. We describe these in-depth discussions as roadmap discussions. They typically last two hours and members leave with a detailed understanding of the topic and a roadmap. In other cases, we provide simple informational referrals.

World games, we were able to answer questions about how the students should treat a person with disabilities, what causes disabilities, and we even talked about how disabilities can't always be seen (learning differences). The students were very candid with their questions and enthusiastic about the content. Every student was given a spread the word shirt that also focused on the word RESPECT. The staff stated later that the students got a lot of great information from the assembly.

In May, we presented a Down syndrome specific talk to the members of the Green Bay West Lions. The group requested this talk, as they have members who have a child with Down syndrome. They asked for information about the condition, what advances had been made in education (the average age of this group was 55), and what they can do to help support the family. Overall the talk was well received and many of them were surprised by the information. This talk will be duplicated to another Lions club in 2014.

5th Annual Down Syndrome Awareness Walk – Held at Lambeau Field: More than 525 walkers joined us on October 12, 2013 to traverse the route around Lambeau Field to celebrate our loved ones with Down syndrome. Emceed by Devon Ashmann of local radio station WIXX, our walkers enjoyed food, fun, information, and an awesome raffle. Major sponsors included Associated Bank, BayTek, the Green Bay Packers and NFL Alumni Association.

In 2013, the Green Bay Chapter of the Down Syndrome Association held the following events:

World Down syndrome Day Celebration: In March 2013, 10 families joined us to celebrate World Down Syndrome Day with bowling and pizza. For many of the families in attendance this was their first DSAW-Green Bay event. Everyone enjoyed themselves and many new relationships were formed.

R-Word/Educator Seminars: In January 2013, representatives from DSAW-GB met with educators and students at Lincoln Elementary School in Green Bay. It began with an open form with the school staff regarding use of the R-word by staff and students and the impact that it has on families of children with all disabilities. We discussed person first language and the importance of appropriate inclusion options. The staff was very open to our discussion asked a lot of questions and was very appreciative of the information we presented. At the all school assembly, we focused on the word RESPECT, as the staff was concerned about introducing the “R-word” to the younger student body. History
The Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin – Green Bay Connection has been in existence since the early 1990’s. Formed by a small group of parents as a networking and support group, and funded by the local ARC; the group gained members quickly. In 2003, the local ARC discontinued support of the group and organizers began looking into ways to raise money to keep activities accessible to all families. In 2008, the group became a regional chapter of the Down syndrome Association of Wisconsin. In 2009, the first Down Syndrome Awareness Walk was held, raising over $2,000; in 2013, the walk raised $20,000. Currently there are approximately 120 members, across five counties in Northeastern Wisconsin. We continue to enjoy growth and recognition in our area.

In 2013, the Green Bay Chapter of the Down Syndrome Association held the following events:

World Down syndrome Day Celebration: In March 2013, 10 families joined us to celebrate World Down Syndrome Day with bowling and pizza. For many of the families in attendance this was their first DSAW-Green Bay event. Everyone enjoyed themselves and many new relationships were formed.

DSAW-Sheboygan and Surrounding Counties

The vision of the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin Sheboygan and Surrounding Counties is that we all understand the value of those with Down syndrome in our lives and our communities. We continually strive toward full acceptance, full access, full life and full potential. Our group is based in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, and we support families in Manitowoc, Fond du Lac, Dodge and Sheboygan counties. We are a growing group, recently becoming a chapter of the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin in 2011.

Looking to 2014 and 2015:
The DSAW Sheboygan Chapter is in the growth stage and is looking to expand our Advisory Board to best serve our constituents. We want to hear from you! Families and individuals who would like to share their ideas on programming they would like to see in our communities.
The Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin – Children of the Heart – Greater La Crosse Area is proud to serve as a resource to families in La Crosse, Monroe, Vernon, Juneau, and Adams Counties in Wisconsin. Due to our close proximity to our neighboring states, we also provide resources to families in Southeast Minnesota and Northeast Iowa.

Our vision is that we all understand the value of those with Down syndrome in our lives and our communities. We continually strive toward full acceptance, full access, full life and full potential.

DSA-W-COTH-GLA is here to support families. We support and advocate for children and adults in a wide age range. We are respectful of the choices families are making based on the phase of life they are currently in.

Children of the Heart (COTH), La Crosse’s first group for family and friends of people with Down syndrome, was founded in 1996. The group provided an opportunity for families to support each other through social functions and information sharing. As the membership grew and the needs of the members changed, Children of the Heart began to realize the benefits of being part of a larger organization. In April 2013, Children of the Heart officially became a chapter of the Down Syndrome Association of Wisconsin. We are looking forward to working with DSA-W to continue to raise awareness of the ABILITIES of people with Down syndrome.
