I am one of those who are not particularly shocked nor even surprised by what you and your fellow administrators are doing to the Prouty Garden, all in the name of growth and so-called institutional advancement. I've witnessed administrators gradually displace faculty members in all sectors of Harvard University decision-making. Important humane values are being cast to the winds in the pursuit of one chimera after another. Eventually, history will judge you and all of the others engaged in such recklessness. I hope that I live long enough to witness, and participate in, that historical reckoning.
