

Reach Out

Little girl why are you running away so far from all that you know is true, what has the world done to you?

You get up only to find yourself crushed again beneath the weight of your loneliness

There is a way if only you would trust

Reach out to the hands that are longing to save you
Cry out to the One who has loved you and made you
To the God who will never forsake you

Little boy don't wipe those tears from your eyes though darkness be your only company

You can still be all you want to be

You can still be all you want to be

Reach out to the hands that are longing to save you
Cry out to the One who has loved you and made you
Reach Out

Through the storm, through it all I will cry out and sing a Hallelujah

Reach out to the hands that are longing to save you
Cry out to the One who has loved you and made you
Cry out, reach out, cry out
To the God who will never forsake you
