

Open scene with a mom waking her young son up for school. She gently shakes his arm and he rolls over to face her.

Son mumbling: "Are we there yet?"

Mom: "Not yet, sweetheart, let's go get ready."

Mom is giving her son a bath.

Son: "Are we there yet?"

Mom: "Not yet."

Mom and son are in the kitchen. Mom, in business attire, is packing lunches while the son is eating cereal at the table.

Son: "Nooooow are we there yet?"

Mom: "Soon, finish your breakfast first."

Mom and son are at the door dressed to leave, and she's helping him put on his winter coat. As she zips it up, he grabs his backpack and runs out the door. Mom smiles, rolls her eyes, and then grabs the keys to her Honda Odyssey. She walks outside to find her son jumping at the side door of the car, anxious for her to unlock it so he can get in.

Mom laughs: "Ok, we're finally here."

Son cheers as he jumps inside the car.

V.O.: "With as many features as the 2015 Honda Odyssey has, it's no wonder people are excited. Standard Bluetooth hands-free link, text display and read-aloud features, a cool box and a 16.2 inch widescreen rear entertainment system make long car rides seem like you've never left home. The vehicle that can fit your entire family and then some needs to be as safe as possible, which is why the Odyssey comes standard with rear-view camera, and now has available lane departure and front collision warnings. Plus, with 28 highway MPG, it's not too hard on the wallet."

During V.O. the mom uses the text display, and hands her son a water bottle from the cool box as he sits enthralled with the rear entertainment system.

Mom pulls up to her son's school ready to drop him off.

Son: "Mooooom!"

Mom sighs: "Ok, we have time for one more quick drive around the block."

V.O.: "See your local Honda dealer for more information and to test drive the 2015 Odyssey today."
