

Stratevi Summer Internship

Who We Are

Stratevi seamlessly combines Strategy and Evidence. We are a new and exciting firm that partners with biotechnology, pharmaceutical and medical device companies to creatively develop and communicate evidence to drive value and ensure optimal access to therapy for patients.

We love solving difficult problems for the most innovative products and take pride in the impact that our work has on patients. As a new firm we are focused on developing a strong culture, and we love to collaborate while having fun together as a team. We work in a creative office space in the heart of Santa Monica.

The Opportunity

Stratevi is offering a 3-month paid summer internship in 2017. The internship will run from approximately mid-May through mid-August.

Stratevi will develop a personalized experience for each intern. Interns will each be paired with a mentor and will receive project work that will complement their individual strengths or provide desired experience in specific areas of interest. For example, interns may support projects focused on value proposition creation, research study design, cost modeling, data analysis and/or evidence synthesis.

Over the summer, interns will gain valuable experience that will provide:

- An improved understanding of how health economics, outcomes research and/or market access disciplines are approached in the real world
- Greater insight into what a future career in consulting may be like
- A unique opportunity to be part of a quickly growing start-up

Who You Are

You are currently enrolled in a Masters or PhD program studying pharmaceutical economics, healthcare decision analytics or a related field. Prior work and research experience is preferred, but not required.

You have a strong attention to detail and great communication and interpersonal skills. You bring passion, curiosity and creativity to everything you do. You are eager to work in a flexible, high-growth environment.

To Apply

Stratevi If interested, we encourage you to send your resume and cover letter to careers@stratevi.com. Applications open in January. Interviews will take place in February and we hope to select our intern(s) by March 2017.

