Dear America

From our favorite poet...to you

In some ways, the last few years in America have felt similarly entrenched opposition, but in extending to others goodwill and understanding, reaching across the aisle, and a general vulnerability can open doorways to the heart, movement towards personal transformation. Underground Writing facilitates risk communities in northern Washington through literacy and transforming power of the word, we believe that attentive generative readings of literature spanning the tradition—from ancient texts to those written in our workshops. Honoring the imagination, and individual lives.

Dear America

No matter the job you have, the family you're part of, where you live, or any other variable one might add to the list, it's almost surely to the things in our lives, to the things we feel. As mentor texts, students have read, among others, Walt Whitman, Denise Levertov, Natalie Diaz, Bob Dylan, and even the Declaration of Independence.
