THE MENTAL HEALTH WEEKEND

by the UCC Mental Health Network and the Southwest Conference of the UCC

You are invited to this Weekend for Mental Health. While we know that 1 out of 4 people are directly affected by mental health challenges, we also know that we can be a resource in responding to these challenges. On Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1 and Nov. 2, there are two engaging and equipping programs on mental health. They are Mental Health First Aid and the UCC WISE (Welcoming, Inclusive, Supportive, Engaged) Mental Health Conference. We hope you will participate in both or either of the two programs. You will join with others to learn, understand and address mental health concerns so as to provide education, support and advocacy in your congregation and to reduce the stigma about mental illness in our society, in our congregations, and even in ourselves.

Do not fear; for I have redeemed you;
I have called you by name,
you are mine." Isa. 43:1

Isaiah reminds us to live not in fear, but in the personal, renewing relationship with the loving presence of God. Affirming this faith, we meet to address a part of our experience which is sometimes painful and which also often leads to a deeper appreciation of the gift that we call life.

Mental Health First Aid, (MHFA) will be on Friday, Nov. 1. You will learn how to identify, understand and respond to signs of mental illnesses and substance use disorders in your community, church or family.

WISE (Welcoming, Inclusive, Supportive, Engaged) Conference about Mental Health will be on Saturday, Nov. 2. Individuals and congregations will learn how to become WISE about mental health by hearing stories by persons affected by mental health challenges and receive practical steps in workshops and to how to engage in a mental health ministry in your congregation.

We are grateful to the United Church of Christ and the Southwest Conference of the UCC which has in part financially supported this Weekend for Mental Health.

Our hope is that these two programs will continue to be a vanguard as our UCC reaches out to all the congregations which are moved to address mental illness and which may decide to become a WISE Congregation for Mental Health.

Rev. Amy Petré Hill

How to Become a WISE Congregation for Mental Health: Inspiring Stories & Practical Advice

Learn how to become a WISE Congregation: a Welcoming, Inclusive, Supportive, and Engaged church offering radical belonging with those living with mental health challenges, brain differences, and substance use disorders. Using a ten-step approach, we will cover the history of the WISE Congregation program, discuss the opportunities for spiritual and membership growth through WISE certification, and share practical advice on how to overcome common challenges and emerge a WISE Congregation on Mental Health.

Rev. Amy Petré Hill is the Minister of Mental Health and Inclusion at Mountain View United Church in Aurora, Colorado, and the first UCC minister ordained to mental health ministry in a congregation. She previously worked as a disability rights attorney, spiritual advisor to the Voices for Veterans Mental Health Council of Eastern Colorado, and chaplain intern at a Colorado state psychiatric hospital. She is a certified Mental Health First Aid Instructor, NAMI Group Facilitator, Soul Shop for Congregations trainer, and currently serves on the United Church of Christ Mental Health Network Board.

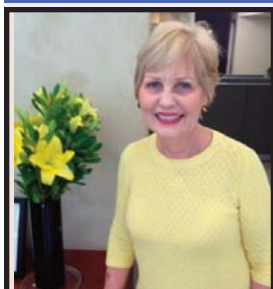

Robin Kempster

The Basics: How One Church Started and Grew a Mental Health Ministry, and Voted to Become a WISE Congregation for Mental Health
The church voted to become a WISE Congregation for Mental Health in February, 2019.

Robin Kempster is the Parish Nurse at First Church Berkeley, UCC in California. She started the Mental Health Ministry at the church and has encouraged others to join together and to be active participants. The goals of the ministry are to include all members and friends in the life of the church, to provide opportunities to reduce stigma for those with mental health challenges, to share our stories, and to educate ourselves around mental health issues. Robin is on the Board of Directors of the UCC Mental Health Network. She enjoys the piano and portrait photography.

WISE Conference Chaplains

Reverend Sandra Britton is a board certified chaplain in the field of addiction recovery and served as senior clinical chaplain in variety of settings including hospitals, treatment centers, counseling agencies and private practice. She is interested and specializes in Twelve Step Spirituality as foundational to recovery from addiction.

Chaplain, Rev. Tom Martinez is the Senior Minister serving Desert Palm UCC in Tempe, AZ, and has worked as a Mental Health Professional in the Pacific Northwest. Tom has a lifelong interest in the interface of psychology and religion.

WISE Workshops—1:00-2:00 pm

Addiction: Crisis and Call

Rev. Jack Abel

How can leaders and communities respond faithfully to substance use concerns within and around their context of ministry? This workshop will speak to the fundamentals about substance use disorder as a mental health concern. It will suggest three categories of opportunity to the crisis in our midst: (a) hosting recovery communities; (b) referring appropriately when staff or family concerns are identified; and (c) embracing recovery. Core competencies of clergy and congregations and other useful links are provided and suggested outcome-oriented actions will be explored.

Latinx Population and Mental Health

Jon Gilbert Martinez

This workshop will examine a brief historical look into the Latinx population in the United States through hope, struggles, colorism, and resilience. We will explore the messages that children, women, men, immigrants, and the LGBTQ community receive about mental health.

What Helps You When a Loved One is Living with a Mental Illness, and Starting a Mental Health Spiritual Support Group

Rev. Alan Johnson

This workshop will engage participants in ways that we can understand, relate, and deal with the experiences that we have when a loved one is living with a mental health challenge. Many of us are impacted by the mental illness of our loved one. We need understanding and information, to learn about resources, find support, practice ways to take care of ourselves, and how to sort through the varied emotions which arise such as confusion, helplessness, support, and hope. One resource which will be offered is how to start a spiritual support group for mental health in your congregation.

Suicide: Prevention, Intervention, Postvention

Rev. Dr. Rachael Keefe

This workshop will examine the role congregations can play in suicide prevention, intervention, and postvention. We will discuss all aspects of suicide including signs and symptoms of a person who is at risk, how to respond to someone who may be suicidal, and how a congregation can respond after suicide. We will also look at some of the theological questions and common beliefs around suicide.

Companionship—an Introduction

Robin Kempster

Companionship is a ministry of presence, responding to isolation and suffering, and supportive of healing and recovery. Companionship is rooted in our natural capacity to be sensitive, compassionate and concerned. Companions observe and approach individuals and use the five basic spiritual practices of hospitality, neighbor, sharing the journey side-by-side, listening and accompaniment. Developed by Craig Rennebohm, author of The Way of Companionship: Welcoming the Stranger, Companionship can be helpful in congregations as they respond to people experiencing “in-the-moment” events of a mental health nature at church. Companionship is part of Pathways to Promise (pathways2promise.org).

“Take your Candle, Run to the Darkness”: The Impact of Childhood Trauma and the Mitigating Role of the Local Church

Dr. Vicki K. Harvey & Rev. Amy Petré Hill

This workshop will explore the depth of the break in trust and identity when trauma hits children in the heart of their innocence. We will examine ways in which the church can become a new womb, surrounding the child and their also-traumatized circle (parents, teachers, siblings, caregivers) with practical and spiritual support. The goal is to experience a stable and loving space to rest, grow, and eventually find a way forward.

Anxiety and Depression in the Life of the Church

Rev. Megan Snell and Devin Shmueli

Exploring mental health across the lifespan, this workshop will highlight depression and anxiety. By the end of the workshop, participants will be able to identify the signs and symptoms of depression and anxiety as well as their prevalence in the church and the larger world. In sharing their lived experiences, Rev. Megan Snell and Devin Shmueli will provide some best practices regarding mental health in the church and some narrative examples for those seeking to address mental health/illness in church. There will be additional resources shared for loved ones and caregivers.

Workshops Repeat: 2:15–3:15 pm

Conference Musician—Rev. Kirk Moore

Rev. Kirk Moore, Conference Music Director for our WISE conference, is a therapeutic musician, playing live therapeutic music at the bedside to help create a healing environment. Kirk is the pastor of St. Paul's UCC in Downers Grove, IL and a member of the UCC Mental Health Network Board of Directors. He lives in Wheaton, IL.

Dr. Vicki Harvey is a clinical psychologist in private practice in Brea, California. She has worked for decades with traumatized families. Through both adoption and hosting, Vicki and her husband have brought traumatized children into their family. They currently host a 10-year-old boy through an innovative international program called Kidsave. This program seeks to reach the forgotten older children in foster care and find permanent families. Vicki credits the holding womb of the Diamond Bar United Church of Christ in Diamond Bar, California for the larger welcome, nurturing environment, and tenacity of spirit for making this tough work possible. She currently serves on the UCC Mental Health Network Board of Directors.

Rev. Alan Johnson is an ordained UCC clergy who retired as chaplain at The Children's Hospital (TCH), Denver. He had been pastor for 14 years in churches in Connecticut and New York City, been on national staff of United Church of Christ for 16 years, and now for 10 years he has volunteered in the field of mental health. and welcome of persons living with severe and persistent symptoms of mental illness. She also served on the New Hampshire State Suicide Prevention Council.

Devin Shmueli (MDiv) has a passion for mental health education, stigma reduction around mental illness, and suicide prevention in communities of faith. After working with children, youth, and families for nearly a decade as a religious educator, Devin also works for an organization called Families for Depression Awareness as their Teen Depression Program Coordinator.

In this role, he provides psycho-education helping parents and caring adults know how to help a teen, and teens know how ask for help, all to improve teen mental wellness and prevent teen suicides.

Rev. Megan Snell is the Pastor of the Nahant Village Church (UCC) in Nahant, Massachusetts and is presently a doctoral student at the Pacific School of Religion. Megan studies the intersection of mental illness/health and Christian congregations. She writes and speaks extensively on clergy mental health, theology that upholds intersectional identities, and the lived experience of having mental illness and being a Christian. She lives openly with Bipolar I disorder. Megan serves on the United Church of Christ Mental Health Network Board and writes for the Mental Health Network Blog.
