The International Society for the Study of Fatty Acids and Lipids (ISSFAL) was established in 1991 with the objective of increasing the understanding of the role of dietary fatty acids and lipids in health and disease through research and education.

ISSFAL’s members come from more than forty countries and include scientists, health professionals, administrators and educators with an interest in the health effects of dietary fats.

ISSFAL’s mission is to serve as an agent for communication among interested scientists — working in nutrition, physiology, pathology, biochemistry, cellular and molecular biology and clinical medicine — who are studying the biological effects of fatty acids and lipid metabolism in health and disease. Improved communication across these different branches of medical and biological sciences has already stimulated new research and increased knowledge of nutrition. ISSFAL has also taken a role in interpreting the new facts into sound nutritional advice for the public.

ISSFAL 2020 will continue the tradition of biennial international meetings and we look forward to your support of this important Congress.
ISSFAL is pleased to invite you to Qingdao for the 2020 Biennial Congress! Throughout history Qingdao has had several names: Tsingtau, Tsingtao, Jiāo'ào, Jiaozhou, Kiaochow, Kiauchau, Kiautschou, Qindao. Tsingtau was a German concession from 1897 to until the First World War broke out in 1914. Tsingtao was the headquarters of the Western Pacific Fleet of the US Navy from 1945 to 1949.

Qingdao, in China's eastern Shandong province, is a port city of skyscrapers, parks and beaches bordering the Yellow Sea. It's known for its beer, a legacy of the German occupation (1898-1914). The Tsingtao Beer Museum celebrates the namesake brewery, founded here by Germans in 1903, and the Qingdao International Beer Festival is major event. There is also German-style architecture in the old city center.

With its abundance of natural beauty, the year-round schedule of international events and seasonal tourist attractions make China’s Sailing City an ideal tourist destination for both domestic and international travelers. Notable sites in the Shinan District include Protestant and Catholic churches, plus Huashi Lou and Qingdao Guest House, mansions built in the style of German castles.

Nearby, the iconic Zhan Qiao pier juts into the bay for 440m, ending at an octagonal pavilion that’s a popular gathering spot offering sweeping bay views. Along the coast to the east are several beaches for sunbathing and swimming. Further to the east rises Lao Shan, a sacred Taoist mountain with hiking trails, waterfalls and Taiqing Palace, a temple founded during the Song dynasty.
ISSFAL 2020 THEMES & TOPICS

The Congress will run Sunday through Thursday. As in past meetings, ISSFAL 2020 will provide an opportunity to hear and discuss the latest scientific findings related to the biology of fatty acids and lipids and their mediators; and for interaction among scientists from academia, government and industry with other health professionals.

Satellite Symposia and Sponsored Workshops: There will be several added opportunities to present during the Congress in either a workshop format or by arranging a satellite symposium on a specific theme. We encourage you to contact us about any proposal to conduct such a session as soon as possible.

INVITEES

ISSFAL 2020 will invite leading scientists in the area of lipid and fatty acid research, particularly those whose work can be linked to human health. By inviting outstanding scientists who can translate the relevance of their work for health, we aim to attract more than 500 delegates world-wide, complementing a vast number of participants from China, from a wide range of disciplines linked to lipids and health.

The meeting will also feature the presentations of the prestigious Alexander Leaf Award and the ISSFAL Early Career Award.

The 2020 Congress will continue the ISSFAL tradition of providing extensive support for New Investigators, who are future for research in lipids and fatty acids and for the Society. ISSFAL is providing travel bursaries totalling US $20,000 to support the attendance of New Investigators. ISSFAL 2020 will provide free registration for successful New Investigator Awards applicants, as well as significant prizes for the best oral and poster presentations from this group.

Industry sponsorship has always been a key feature of the success of past ISSFAL meetings. Sponsorship is more important than ever as it enables us to invite the leading scientists in the increasingly exciting area of lipids, fatty acids, and their mediators. Also, sponsorships allow us to offer numerous opportunities for all attendees to interact while keeping down the cost of meeting registration – a particularly important benefit in view of the emphasis placed on the encouragement given to researchers at the start of their careers.

Apart from the invitations to submit work for presentation, a significant number of free registrations are awarded to student members, together with the opportunity to apply for travel awards and to win significant prizes for the best science presented. All this support could not be achieved without significant financial sponsorship from industry, academia and government.
The Organizing Committee therefore invites your support of the Congress through one of several sponsorships, exhibition or promotional opportunities listed on the following pages.

The Congress will be promoted to as diverse an audience as possible by:
- Direct mail and e-mail via our listserve of over 2000 unique individuals
- Via the ISSFAL main website as well as the dedicated ISSFAL 2020 website
- On-site promotion at allied meetings leading up to the congress
- Listings in journals and newsletters and on relevant web lists

As in previous years, there will be many opportunities to recognise sponsors in prominent ways. On the following pages the benefits associated with the various sponsorship packages are set out. Early application is advisable to ensure that your company’s marketing goals are realized — as soon as sponsorship is confirmed, your company will be listed on the website and in print material as a supporter of ISSFAL 2020.

The Committee would be happy to discuss with you any of the exhibition and promotional opportunities detailed. If you wish to discuss options that are not currently listed, we would be pleased to explore these with you and cater to your individual requirements.

Further information about the exhibition and a floor plan will be distributed early in 2020.
