This series is designed as an inside-out approach of self-reflection followed by the reshaping of practices, structures and systems to implement a program action plan dedicated to better understanding the perspectives and needs of students from diverse populations.

Program Developers:

Rebecca Pianta, EdD
Coordinator of Counseling & Student Support, Capistrano USD, CA

Derek Francis, MA
Manager of Counseling Services, Minneapolis Public Schools, MN

On average, 95% of attendees agree that they would recommend this training to others. Feedback consistently applauds the developers for their energy and ability to create a safe atmosphere that promotes inner reflection and powerful dialogue on sensitive topics.

During our Antiracist Professional Development, Rebecca and Derek were able to bridge our equity work with the specific role and work of school counselors. This has always been missing from our equity work as a district. It made this PD deeply relevant, immediately applicable, and impactful for our school counselors. With their deep knowledge of school counseling and social justice, Rebecca and Derek created an environment of authenticity and trust which challenged our counselors to be reflective of their practice and to actively engage in the work of becoming more antiracist school counselors.
