

Modern Families in Schools: Professional Development Seminars

Objective:

The Modern Family Center at Spence-Chapin provides counseling, community, and connection for today's families. Our social workers and outreach team work closely with schools, hospital staff, social service organizations, and community leaders to educate others about adoption, family dynamics, and child development. We can help you learn how to create a space that welcomes all students in your classroom and what to do when challenges arise. Our professional development seminars for educators and school administrators are led by experienced and licensed family experts and will increase awareness and sensitivity to create an inclusive school environment.

These seminars allow participants to critically examine lesson plans and curriculum through case studies as well as interactive and hands-on group activities. These seminars give school staff the tools they need and allows parents to feel confident that their children are in a culturally sensitive and supportive environment.
